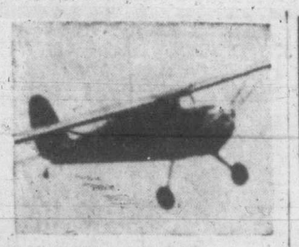
Uproars Mark Inquiry On War Expenditures



Strike Plane On Raid

A "dogfight" enlivened the monotony of workers and strikers alike at Hamilton's Stelco plant when a company plane attempted to drive off a union chartered plane as the unionists "bombarded" the plant with leaflets. R. W. Goodwin, assistant civilian aviation inspector for the Department of Transportation, is investigating the "dogfight."

Churchill Urges U.S. Help With Palestine Plan

LONDON (CP) — Winston Churchill rallied to the side of the Labor Government tonight in a plea for U.S. aid to solve the problem of Palestine.

Expressing hope that President Truman would not reject the newly - proposed semi - partition plan, Mr. Churchill declared in a House of Commons debate:

"If this Anglo-American co-operation fails as it seems so far to have failed, the record of the (British) administration during this year in the handling of Palestine affairs will stand forth as a monument of incapacity."

Britain, the former Prime Minister declared, should surrender her mandate for Palestine if she proves unable—with or without United States aid—to carry out her pledges to the Jews.

"We should have made it clear to the United States as soon as the war stopped," he added, "that unless they came in and bore their share we would lay the whole burden at the feet of the United Nations."

Sir Stafford Cripps, president of the Board of Trade, earlier had supported the proposed division of the Holy Land, holding it was important to development of self-government for Jews and Arabs alike. He also appealed for American help in making the plan work.

Deputy Prime Minister Herbert Morrison, who announced Britain's conditional approval of the plan in the House of Commons Wednesday, commented then that co-operation was essential to put the proposal into effect and added that the American delegation of experts in the conference which devised the scheme had accepted it unanimously.

President Truman called those experts home late Wednesday, however, and Washington officials in a position to know said the Chief Executive had decided tentatively to reject the proposal —which was intended to divide the troubled Holy Land into an Arab zone, a Jewish zone and two zones administered by the British-controlled Central Government.

The Washington reports said State Secretary Byrnes shared the President's view that further exploration of the entire Palestine situation should be undertaken in an effort to solve the problem.

Little Blur Makes Embarrassing Error For Labor Board

OTTAWA (CP) — There was fairly general agreement in certain sections of the Labor Department today that a nine had never been mistaken for a zero at a more unpropitious moment.

It happened sometime during the mechanical process of making public the decision of the National War Labor Board approving a 10 cents an hour increase for employees of the International Business Machine Co. Ltd of Toronto.

The decision came out two days ago, just about the time the headlines were proclaiming that figure as the point beyond which Donald Gordon, Prices Board chairman, had said general increases should not go. That was what Mr. Gordon said and, by a happy coincidence, that was the figure the board had set.

But out came the announcement and the zero in the 10 was a 9. The recommended raise was not 10 cents but 19 cents.

In at least one strike-bound plant workers began to rumble, "Why should they get 19 cents when we're told anything but 10 cents would start inflation?"

Hurriedly but belatedly, the Labor Department put out a corrective, then began looking for the flaw in the machine.

A board official put it down today to "a little indistinct blur" which fastened itself to the zero in the 10 on the mimeographed copy of the decision.

Hitler Aide Alive

Long believed dead, Martin Bormann, Hitler's deputy party leader, was reported seen in Munich a week ago by American intelligence officers. Now the hunt is on and a house-to-house search being conducted.

Tools Of Golf Trade Ruled Duty-Free

OTTAWA (CP) — The next American golf professional who gets into Canada without paying custom duties on new golf balls can thank the financial sacrifice of little Ben Hogan.

Golf's mighty mite was nicked for $23 in duties on five dozen golf balls when he entered Canada at Emerson, Man., on his way to take part in the Canadian Professional Golfers' Association open tournament at Winnipeg.

The story got into the papers today and had its reactions in distant Ottawa.

A golf-conscious official of the Revenue Department said instructions have gone out to border points that golf professionals are to be allowed to bring in clubs and balls as "tools of their trade" and duty-free.

There was no immediate indication, though, that Hogan, winner of $27,500 in prizes already this year, would get back his $23.

Says Many Mines Will Have To Close

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Chamber of Mines of eastern British Columbia issued a prepared statement here today saying "many" gold mines will be forced to close down because of parity of the Canadian and United States dollars and also labor conditions.

Arguments Start On Questioning About Article

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons war expenditures committee, examining Dr. J. J. Brown of Toronto, writer of an article in the Winnipeg Free Press about the alleged deliberate destruction of useable air force batteries, today repeatedly dissolved into an uproar as members asked questions which other members charged were out of order.

Dr. Brown was on the stand again after two meetings at which R.C.A.F. witnesses, Wing Cmdrs. E. G. Mahoney, equipment staff officer at the Maintenance Command here, and F. F. Foster, chief equipment officer at No. 1 Equipment Depot, Weston, Ont., were called to give the air force's evidence on mutilation of batteries.

Today's first argument started when Karl Homuth, P.C., Waterloo South, Ont., charged the air force witnesses had been called in to "try to disprove what Brown wrote."

In the hubub that followed R. H. McGregor, P.C., York East, Ont., charged that "Mahoney said the evidence of this witness was 'a bunch of lies'." There were shouts of "That's not true!"

As the committee quieted Dr. Brown continued his statement, referring to an R.C.A.F. mutilation list for early in 1945 which, included electrical equipment under which batteries are classified.

"I submit the R.C.A.F. does not know what it has mutilated, although its representatives have said they did not mutilate batteries. It is especially odd since in previous minutes of this committee (when Group Capt. V. S. J. Millard, chief of Maintenance Command, testified in connection with destruction of equipment at Penhold, Alta.) they said they did not know."

SECOND ARGUMENT

Second argument of the meeting developed when Hughes Cleaver, Lib., Halton, Ont., asked the witness how much money he had been paid or promised by the Winnipeg Free Press for the article. There were shouts of "No, no!" and "that is out of order!"

"I do not propose to make any specific statement in dollars and cents in fairness to the Free Press and other magazines I have written for," Dr. Brown said.

"Are you ashamed of it?" asked Mr. Cleaver, and the committee was again in an uproar.

Alistair Stewart, C.C.F., Winnipeg North, charged the question was unfair and "there is too much of this going on."

"My honorable friends are very nervous," said Mr. Cleaver.

"Not nervous, we just like fairness," retorted Mr. Stewart.

"If I were the witness I would tell Cleaver where to go," said Mr. Homuth.

J. W. Murphy, P.C., York East said the question should be struck off the record.

Mr. Cleaver repeated his question.

"I prefer not to answer in dollars and cents but I have worked at this since March, 1944, and spent my own money to the extent of $900 . . ." Dr. Brown said before he was drowned out again.

CRIES OF ORDER

Amid cries of order and that such evidence was inadmissable, Eugene Marquis, Lib., Kamouraska, Que., said: "The witness has to say if he received money or not for the Free Press article."

There were cries of "Show how fair and unbiased you are."

"I don't blame my friends in the Conservative opposition for putting up this barrage. Maybe they are nervous. I repeat my question," said Mr. Cleaver.

Dr. Brown started again to tell of his personal expenses in connection with research for the article and was again shouted down.

George McIlraith, Lib., Ottawa West, parliamentary assistant to Reconstruction Minister Howe, said the question was a proper one. "And if it is a proper one the witness should not go on in this way."

Mr. Cleaver insisted that he was going to get an answer no matter how long the witness "threw up a smoke screen."

Chairman Gordon Ismor, Lib., Halifax, asked the committee to decide the fairness of the question.

W. H. Golding, veteran Liberal member for Huron-Perth, Ont., recalled that during the parliamentary inquiry into the manufacture of Bren guns some years ago, George Drew (now Ontario premier) had written a magazine article, been asked his payment and had given it "without any question."

"I have written magazine articles and have been offered higher payment to make the article sensational," said Thomas Reid, Lib., New Westminister.

Mr. Ismor ruled that the witness was not obliged to state how much he had received.

"Were you paid?" asked Mr. Cleaver.

Dr. Brown exchanged glances with a visitor to the committee and said he had been paid.

"Who is this gentelman at the side who gave you the go-ahead sign to answer?" asked Mr. Cleaver.

Dr. Brown identified him as Ralph Allen, an associate editor of MacLean's Magazine, who had collaborated with him on two recent articles about War Assets Corporation waste.

Lie Says U.N. Success Hinges On Big 5 Seeking Understanding

NEW YORK (AP)—Secretary-General Trygve Lie said today the success of the United Nations hinges directly on the big powers seeking agreement among themselves in a spirit of understanding and compromise and that failure would mean "the triumph of destruction."

Declaring he did not feel the world agency so far had fulfilled the broad hopes placed in it, Mr. Lie said the power of veto granted to the Big Five "imposed upon them an obligation to seek agreement among themselves."

BASIC PRINCIPLE

"The United Nations was not designed to perform the functions of a peace conference, nor was it equipped to act as a referee between the great powers," he said in a lengthy report for the General Assembly. "It was founded upon the basic assumption that there would be agreement between the permanent members (Big Five) of the Security Council upon major issues.

"Many of the issues which have come before the Security Council have arisen from inability to reach such agreement."

Mr. Lie is on a trip to Europe and the report was released by his office here. It concluded a comprehensive discussion of the work of the organ, of the U.N. since the world agency set up headquarters here last March and will be presented to the Assembly when that body convenes Sept. 23.

Asserting the U.N. could not be held responsible for inability to attain goals not within its reach under the charter, he said:

"I should be failing in my duty in presenting this report if I did not emphasize the absolute necessity that the powers should seek agreement among themselves, in a spirit of mutual understanding and a will to compromise, and not abandon their efforts until such agreement has been reached."

SUGGESTS DANGERS

Mr. Lie said he saw no cause for discouragement, but asked:

"Are there not nevertheless very real dangers facing us?

"Has not the lively desire of all peoples and governments to establish the authority of the United Nations, and to combine their efforts in achieving the victories of peace, sometimes been impeded by a lack of mutual trust among the members of the organization?"

He descibed the U.N. as machinery through which the nations can co-operate and said it was no stronger than the collective will of the nations that support it.

". . . the failure of the United Nations would mean the failure of peace, the triumph of destruction."

Mr. Lie then directed an appeal to all members, and especially the United States, Russia, Great Britain, China and France, "to ponder the dangers to which I have called attention and to exert every effort to overcome them."

Heavy Fog Aids Crews Fighting Forest Fires

MONCTON, N.B. (CP)—Under considerably higher humidity, the forest fire situation in New Brunswick today was better than at any time during the last week, provincial forest service officials declared.

A heavy fog Wednesday night aided weary crews to get in close to the fires, nearly dormant in places.

While the situation was not especially cheerful, it was at no point as dangerous as rumors previously had indicated.

$50,000 Fire Loss At Shingle Mill

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Fire of unknown origin late Wednesday night destroyed the main mill building of the Lulu Island plant of the Keystone Shingle and Lumber Company, causing an estimated property loss of $50,000.

A fireman was overcome by smoke and heat and taken to hospital.

500 Representatives Of Ontario Unions Descend On Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) — More than 500 representatives of labor unions in Ontario gathered in Major Hill Park, within sight of the parliament buildings, today to pick delegates to place their case before the government and possibly the industrial relations committee of the Commons.

In cars placarded with signs bespeaking labor's "just demands" and need for "decent wages," they were out bright and early to plot their course for telling the "rank and file" version of strikes in Canadian industries.

With Toronto delegates as a nucleus, their motorcade began descending on Ottawa Wednesday night, bearing representatives of strikers from Windsor, Hamilton, Chatham, Peterborough, Kitchener, Welland and Bowmanville. Some of them slept in their cars, but others slept in beds arranged for them by the city's tourist bureau.

All affiliated with the Canadian Congress of Labor, their unions included the United Electrical Workers, United Rubber Workers, United Automobile Workers, and International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers.

A spokesman for the massing group said their purpose was to discuss and, if necessary, debate the necessity of greater wage increases than the 10 cents an hour spoken of by Donald Gordon, chairman of the Prices Board, in an appearance before the committee. They also want a cut in working hours and other benefits.

ON THE FARMS . . .

To gather in a full harvest this year, extra help is urgently needed on the farms. Precious crops must not be left in the fields . . . a hungry world awaits every bushel of wheat we can send.

There is no better way to aid the starving peoples of Europe and the Far East than to help NOW with the HARVEST.

Full details and information are available at your local National Employment Office or Provincial Agriculture Service.

IN THE HOMES . . .

Every member of your family should be one of Canada's famine fighters. Buy and use less bread, flour, wheat and wheat products, eggs, cheese and meat. As substitutes, use fruit and vegetables . . . and preserve a supply for winter.

Turn in all the meat coupons you can spare to your local Ration Board. For every coupon donated, an equivalent amount of meat is added to desperately needed food shipments.

The world food crisis is grave, we must all prevent waste in the fields and homes of Canada.

Share with the hungry!

Silver Price Boost Spurs Mine Development Projects

Every old silver prospect and mine in British Columbia is being investigated this year because of the rising price of the metal, B.C. Mines Department officials reported today.

This announcement came at the same time that it was reported in Washington that President Truman had signed a bill providing for a 19-cent increase to 90.5 cents in the price of silver.

Dr. J. Walker, deputy minister of mines, said both eastern and local concerns were investigating the mines and projects in the two main silver producing areas of the province, the Slocan and Portland Canal districts.

In the Slocan area, particularly, he said, old mines were being investigated for blind seams.

Price of silver is good, he said, and it looked as though the price was going to remain high for some time.

Anything in the nature of silver-lead deposits should see some development, Dr. Walker said.

Price of lead in the U.S. is at present 9½ cents, which is considerably higher than in Canada where the prices are controlled.

Silver mines of British Columbia were hit hard by falling prices during the depression. No restoration of price was effected during the war despite a heavy demand for silver in industry.

Since a tremendous amount of stock in B.C. silver mines which ceased operation during the depression is held in Victoria the announcements of the price increase, and the renewed interest in B.C. prospects is being watched closely.

The price increase, industry spokesmen said, would benefit Canadian mines which since the beginning of the year have sold 75 per cent of their silver on the world market.

"It will aid the marginal operations particularly," one mining man said, "and will undoubtedly attract a lot of new capital to Canadian silver mining."

Canada's annual silver production is 13,000,000 ounces. Of this, the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. Ltd. produces 55 per cent. Before the war, Canadian markets used 1,000,000 ounces a year; now use about 4,000,000. The rest has been sold on the world market since the beginning of the year when Prices Board chairman Gordon lifted the ceiling price on silver sold in Canada.

Up to that time, Canadian silver brought only 44 cents an ounce at the most. Immediately afterward, the price jumped to the U.S. price of 71.11 cents.

Building Trebles, Nears $6,000,000 Mark In Area

Building in Greater Victoria is hitting an all-time high this year with permits issued in the area to the value of $5,819,423 for the first seven months of the year. This is almost treble building permits issued during the same period last year when they totaled $2,094,118.

In Victoria for the seven-month period there were 908 permits issued for a value of $2,954,594, compared with 600 permits in 1945 valued at $1,110,291.

For the month of July alone there were 121 permits issued valued at $320,273, while last year in July there were 130 permits issued for $220,866. Of these, this year 25 were for dwellings, and the largest single permit was for $43,000 addition to the Home Furniture Co.

Saanich showed a gain of nearly $500,000 for the first seven months with 659 permits, $1,963,662 having been issued, compared with 424 permits, $1,497,025 in 1945. There were 351 dwellings, $1,557,570 in this year's permits and 151 dwellings, $544,395 last year.

In July of this year Saanich issued 66 permits for a total value of $142,525, which included 30 dwellings, value $121,300, which is a decided drop from July, 1945, when 87 permits were valued at $1,016,235.

ESQUIMALT BOOMS

In Esquimalt building more quadrupled during the first seven months of the year, with 88 permits being issued for $328,600, as against 34 permits in 1945 for $73,232.

For July Esquimalt showed the same gain, having issued 14 permits, representing construction of $49,800, compared with 12 permits for July, 1945, $16,650.

Building in Oak Bay was not quite double that of the 1945 permit, with 148 permits having been issued this year for $572,567. Of these 77 permits were for houses costing $493,813. During 1945 for the seven-month period, 136 permits were issued, value $366,200, of which 61 were for houses, $326,105.

During July Oak Bay's building showed a drop from 1945 with only 19 permits being issued for $66,280 compared with 30 permits last July for $102,870.

B.C. Farmers To Get Quota Of 4,000 Polish Veterans

A quota of the 4,000 Polish war veterans being brought from Britain to Canada to work on farms will be made available to B.C. farmers, it was indicated today by Labor Minister Mitchell in a letter to Provincial Agriculture Minister Frank Putnam.

Mr. Mitchell asked Mr. Putnam, through his department, to give all possible assistance to Col. J. E. Wood, regional agricultural employment adviser in Vancouver, in placing a fair quota of these men on the farms of the province.

Forms of application may be secured from Col. Wood at 475 Howe Street, Vancouver.

Only one veteran will be allotted to any one farm at present.

The farmer will be required to sign a contract with the Department of Labor in Ottawa which makes the following provisions:

1. Period of employment will be two years unless the contract is terminated earlier with the approval of the Dominion Labor Minister.

2. Wages will be paid each month at the prevailing rate in the community.

3. The veterans will not be required during the term of the contract to work more than 60 hours per week from April 1 to Oct. 31, and not more than 48 hours per week during the remainder of the year.

4. Living and working conditions, including board and lodging, shall be subject to the approval of the regional agricultural employment adviser, whose decision shall be final should any difference of opinion arise between the veteran and the farmer who agrees to employ him.

Cut In Home Prices Too Small To Please Veterans' Officials

The Canadian Legion and the Greater Victoria Citizens' Rehabilitation Council are far from being satisfied with reports from Ottawa that the government will absorb approximately $10,000 of the excess costs of the Braefoot Veterans' Land Act housing project and will set a maximum cost of a small-holding house to ex-servicemen at approximately $6,500 and a minimum of $4,800.

A. Palmer, secretary of the rehabilitation council, said he had seen reports along this line, but that nothing official had been received by him.

"If the reports are true I am far from being satisfied with them. That's all I can say now, but you can be sure we'll have more to say later," Mr. Palmer said.

Robert Knight, chairman of the Victoria and District Zone Council of the Canadian Legion, said the Legion "will still go after the government to make the cost of small holdings to veterans reasonable."

$4,800 MAXIMUM

He thought that $4,800 should be the maximum cost rather than the minimum.

"There's no reason why the government can't wipe out these so-called excess costs. If this is not done, the government will have all these veterans' houses back on its hands in a few years.

"The reason veterans have signed to take these houses is because they can't find places to live. They'll sign for anything in order to have a place to put their families.

"Those houses aren't even worth $4,800, if these were normal times. The $4,800 figure would be reasonable now though," Mr. Knight said.

It was reported from Ottawa that Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., had protested the high cost of veterans' homes on small holdings in the Greater Victoria area, and that an excuse for excess costs of the Braefoot project was bad weather conditions which existed during construction, and increased costs owing to delay in delivery of essential materials.

It was reported that he was given assurance from Gordon Murchison, director of the Veterans' Land Act, that the absorption by the government of approximately $10,000 of the excess costs would reduce average monthly payments by the purchasing veterans to approximately $24, the low being $18 and the high $29.

It also was reported that the majority of 33 veterans' houses at Royal Oak would be ready for allocation sometime this week.

Police Protection Offered Builders

Commenting on recent thefts of tools and equipment from buildings under construction, Police Chief John A. McLellan today warned contractors to take precautions by either employing watchmen or asking for police protection.

"If the contractor will notify the police that they are leaving tools and equipment on their jobs, we will do our best to give protection," the chief said.

"Also we would appreciate information by telephone, G-arden 4111, of anything of a suspicious nature on a construction job after working hours."

SO FAR, SO GOOD

DELEGATES FROM THE 21 NATIONS who are now discussing the draft treaties for five former enemy countries in Paris obviously do not expect to finish their labors without a good deal of highly-controversial debate. Differences in points of view on procedural and substantive matters already have made their appearance. It could not be otherwise. But some of the misgivings which had caused considerable headshaking since the recent meeting of the Council of Foreign Ministers seem to have been substantially dissipated. So far, at any rate, the conference is proceeding with an appropriate recognition of its basic duty of hewing the path to an enduring peace.

Some of the ex-Axis partners will complain bitterly of the terms which the treaties prescribe. Italian statesmen are hinting darkly at possible repercussions in the new republic over certain boundary readjustments. But the Italy of Mussolini which consented to war against prostrate France when a "cheap victory" seemed in the offing has much for which to atone. Neither the rejuvenated Italian nation nor any of her former associates in the fight against the so-called effete democracies can expect more consideration in this final settlement than is considered essential to the establishment of a peace which is—to use Prime Minister Mackenzie King's term—"just and enduring." Their contributions to that state must be their acceptance of their share of responsibility for prolonging the war.

As Mr. Trygve Lie, Secretary-General of the United Nations, said today, the great peace organization will succeed only if the big powers seeking agreement among themselves act in a spirit of understanding and compromise. Failure to do so, of course, would mean "the triumph of destruction." While the machinery fashioned at the San Francisco Conference last year was not intended for peace settlement purposes, nor even as a referee between the great powers, "it was founded upon the basic assumption that there would be agreement between the permanent members (the "Big Five") of the Security Council upon major issues." In other words, if the "Big Four" in Paris agree that the 17 "middle" and smaller nations also have an important role to play in the current deliberations, they will have manifested an earnest of their desire to follow the path down which Mr. Lie demands the world shall travel.

MRS. M. E. SPRATT

THE ENDING OF A LONG LIFE WELL lived is an occasion more for reflection and appraisal than for sorrow. So it is with the passing of Mrs. Marguerite Ethel Spratt who had entered her 75th year and for more than a quarter of a century had presided over the manifold activities of the Victoria Machinery Depot Co., Ltd. in this city. Not only was she a woman of sterling character and innate kindliness; her long and active business association with the devoted husband who predeceased her equipped her admirably for the exacting managerial tasks which she assumed and discharged with rare judgment and consummate skill.

Not many years ago the idea of a member of the so-called weaker sex challenging the prerogatives of the male in such a highly-competitive sphere as the shipbuilding industry would have evoked the scorn of the most tolerant skeptic. Nor did Mrs. Spratt guide the destinies of her organization by any system of remote control; until ill-health a few weeks ago obliged her to take matters a little more easily, every day found her at her office immersed in the multifarious details of her large plant. And it is not necessary to elaborate at this late stage the magnificent part which the V.M.D. played in the nation's war effort. Could she write her own epitaph, she would probably confine it to the simple statement that she gave of her best to her chosen calling, and was ever mindful of the welfare of those who worked for and with her.

BOOM IN ALUMINUM EXPORTS

SINCE CANADA MADE THE LOW-PRICE contract with Britain on aluminum, she has been enjoying a trade amounting to a boom in that product. In May, aluminum ingot exports totaled 388,558 hundred-weight, or 31 per cent greater than the volume in the previous four months. From January through April, exports totaled 296,375 hundred-weight. The United States, Britain and India received the largest shares of exports, with the United States' portion amounting to $1¼ million, while Britain's and India's shares amounted to $1 million each. The balance of the exports were divided among such nations as Czechoslovakia, Poland, France and the Netherlands.

The total value of exports of aluminum ingots in May amounted to $5.8 millions, and, for the first five months of the year, to $10.3 millions. In addition to ingot exports, $500,000 worth of items such as aluminum rods, sheets, utensils, wire and cable, scrap and other items were exported in May. The total value of all aluminum exported during the first five months amounted to $13 millions, with the May exports amounting to $6.3 millions.

TEMPORARY DIFFICULTY

ONE OF THE DIFFICULTIES INherent in the implementation of the Cameron Report—a difficulty clearly seen by educationists here when the Greater Victoria school merger was initiated last April—arose from municipal inability to readjust school budgeting for the second half of 1946 to bring teachers' salaries up to a uniform basis. Municipalities operating on a lower scale than that applying in the city and Oak Bay had already passed their estimates for the year and were without recourse to new sources of revenue to supplement them.

The condition has been reflected in a relatively restricted number of applicants for posts in the lower paid schools. Fortunately for this community, however, the situation is one which can be rectified when estimates are drafted for the second half of the school year early in 1947. At that time the fruits of present labors to establish uniformity will become apparent and the entire Greater Victoria school district will be placed in a position to maintain the high standard of teaching personnel which the city itself has enjoyed for many years.

As it is, schools operating in the recently-formed district will not be without teachers. Selection has, of course, been narrowed by the fact that other centres have been able to make more attractive offers to those with higher qualifications. Those members of the craft who look further than the immediate future, however, will see clearly the benefits of establishing contact with the Greater Victoria board now. The enviable standard established in this district will not suffer permanently from the temporary condition which now prevails.

BARGAINING

THE EXTENT TO WHICH THE BARUCH Committee's proposals for the control of atomic energy would supercede national sovereignties is generally recognized. The curtailment they would impose on Russian exercise of veto powers is apparent. Hence Mr. Andrei Gromyko's advocacy of the alternative Soviet proposal to vest control in the individual nations and to grant supervisory powers to the Security Council—which would, of course, preserve the veto.

Mr. Gromyko is probably concentrating on obtaining a bargaining position for some totally different objective. The Russian position with regard to atomic weapons has been that the United States—in possession of the plant and "know-how" of manufacture—is using that position first, to bargain for peace treaties, which Russia believes threaten her security, and secondly, to maintain the "capitalist" system, with which Generalissimo Stalin has declared the Soviets are at war. As part of that war Moscow frankly places great emphasis on the strategic "ideological" front which is completely international in scope.

The principle of "national sovereignty" is naturally weakened by any "international authority." Mr. Gromyko regards the Security Council as having sole international authority and the use of "ideology" as a means to peace when exercised by Russia. But the possession of the weapon of atomic energy, he regards as a means of aggression when exercised by the United States. He is extremely anxious to maintain the Security Council as having authority over the United Nations. Both the British and the Americans, on the other hand, regard the United Nations as the supreme authority over all decisions of the Security Council.

AN ECHO FROM THE PAST

AT LEAST TWO MEMBERS OF THE United States Congressional Committee which has been investigating the Pearl Harbor disaster think the inquiry should be re-opened by a Republican Congress—in the event of both Houses changing their political majorities at next November's elections. The authors of this suggestion evidently are not at all pleased with the exoneration of both the late President Roosevelt and former Secretary of State Cordell Hull. All of which, of course, is our neighbor's business.

But one well-known American commentator has other ideas about the propriety of wasting any more time, or fraying more tempers, on a further review of a bit of Second World War history that the passage of time cannot change. He told the people on this continent recently that what most of his compatriots want to know from the lawmakers on Capitol Hill is how they propose to help to keep all those Americans already in jobs working for the full 52 weeks every year, provide them with food for 52 weeks, and the wherewithal to pay the rent for 52 weeks. That was one way of telling the two Congressmen to perform a useful task—instead of raking over the ashes of the dead past.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

ALTHOUGH MOST CANADIANS HAD little thought of praise for their action when they undertook to give up ration coupons to permit a greater export of meat to countries in distress, they will appreciate the measure taken by the authorities to credit them with this generosity. The swelling volume of food which their action has released is now going forward to specific destinations under a seal printed in English, French, Greek and Czechoslovak, stating: "Voluntary donation of ration coupons by Canadians made this meat available."

When Canadians answered the call to help others by sharing some of their food allocations they did so for purely humanitarian reasons. The acknowledgement, however, will be appreciated.

Nature seems to adjust things. Suppose you had to take the bump of revolving doors from the front.

London Cavalcade

By BETH TOMALIN

PROFESSOR G. D. H. COLE has severed his connection with all socialist societies. In taking this step he has said that he wishes to review his political ideas and "to feel free to think things over without having to consider whether I am making it awkward for this or that association."

Professor Cole—the initials stand for George Douglas Howard—is University Reader in Economics at All Souls' College, Oxford. He is most widely known for his long and active association with the labor movement in Great Britain. He was amongst the younger founders of the Fabian Society and a devoted adherent to the principles preached by Sidney and Beatrice Webb. In 1940 he succeeded Beatrice Webb as chairman of the executive of the society and held this position until its elections in mid-June of this year when he declined to stand for re-election.

IN 1913 PROFESSOR COLE, who is now 57 years old, published his first book on "The World of Labor." Since then he has published 45 works on problems of labor, government and economics. In addition to these, and in collaboration with his wife Margaret, he has published nearly 30 thrillers.

The Fabian Society admits a great loss in Professor Cole's retirement. So also does the Oxford University Socialist Club of which he has been chairman for 20 years.

THE FUTURE of mental health in the new national health scheme is causing considerable concern to those engaged in this work. Mental hospitals for certified psychotics will come under the regional hospital boards. Mental defectives will not be cared for under the new scheme. The prevention and treatment of neurosis, maladjusted persons and children's problems—in other words the whole field of mental health as it has been developed and applied largely by voluntary agencies—is given no specific place in the new health bill.

Two of the 41 members of the central council which will advise the Minister of Health at a high level and two members of each regional hospital board will be selected for their experience in mental health services. With these small provisions mental health workers are faced with the risk that their work will depend entirely on the interest which these few administrators may be pleased to take in it.

IF THEY HAPPEN to be mental hospital men, interested only in psychotics the prospect would not be good. Moreover, as the bill now stands, voluntary agencies will be able to continue their work only if local authorities can be persuaded of its value. There is no provision for a central grant on which they could draw.

The various associations of mental health workers, principally the National Council for Mental Health, are asking for amendments to the bill, knowing that their future depends almost entirely on what they can now accomplish by their own pressure. They are asking, among other things, for a definition of the word "hospital" which will include homes and hostels for neurotics.

THE COUNCIL has pointed out that it has been proved that a great many people could be usefully employed if properly looked after while working and in these cases treatment was regarded as inseparable from lodging. The Council has asked, too, for grants for training of psychologists, psychiatric social workers and staffs of hostels for difficult children and for a further assurances that voluntary organizations will continue to receive financial help.

Official indifference to this field of health is regarded with all the more surprise since the services of psychiatrists and psychiatric social workers were widely employed by the War Office in the rehabilitation of prisoners of war and veterans with marked success. The attitude of the medical profession remains mixed even towards the physical aspects of mental health.

Candidate

By JAMES THRASHER

ORIGINALLY, AN AMBITIOUS candidate was a man in white toga who went about looking for votes.

We are indebted for that apparently extraneous definition to the Book of Knowledge. We mention it here because all of us probably get to thinking, at one time or another, that politicians are as variable as politics.

Candidate comes from the Latin candidus, which means gleaming, white or spotless. (It is also the root of our word candid, which many people seldom associate with candidates.) Ambitious is from the Latin verb ambire, which means to go about—especially to go about in search of votes.

The Roman office-seeker used to wear a gleaming, white, spotless toga when he went electioneering. But apparently this toga often went to the laundry in a sorry state at the end of a hard day's campaigning. For Roman voters had a forthright way of expressing disapproval of a candidate's record, promises, political affiliations and general qualifications.

THE CANDIDATE had to meet the people face to face in the Forum. Not for him was the safety of the broadcasting studio. He had to learn to take it, and what he took was not infrequently a barrage of eggs and vegetables past their prime, or a handful of mud from the gutter.

Without cynical intention, it might be suggested that one of the major changes in political technique through the centuries is that the ambitious candidate has learned the defensive value of trying to beat the opposition to the punch by slinging the first handful of mud himself.

GLOBAL SURVEY

By PRESTON GROVER

(Chief of the Associated Press Staff in India, now home on leave, writing for Dewitt Mackenzie)

India is striding steadily toward another crisis in her relations with Britain, with an extremely bad situation in prospect unless at least a partial solution is found.

Mohammed Ali Jinnah and his Moslem League have withdrawn from participation in the constitutional assembly which is scheduled to meet during August or early September to start building a constitution for an independent India. Coupled with that, the League has threatened to start "direct action" to achieve Moslem independence both from the British and from what Jinnah calls "Hindu domination."

At a press conference, Jinnah declined to outline what "direct action" might mean, and also added that the League had not given up thought of further negotiations either with Britain or with Gandhi's Indian National Congress.

For the Moslems it was a new tone of voice. They have not shared very largely in demonstrations against Britain. In the bitter wartime demonstration of 1942 they stood completely aloof. Nevertheless Jinnah has repeatedly emphasized that there is no "non-violence" creed to hamper them if they do cut loose.

Moslem leaders have called for a one-day "hartal" on Aug. 16. This means closing the shops and general suspension of activity other than political. On that day, Moslem League leaders are expected to detail what they want in the way of "direct action." They are in an angry mood, for they feel, rightly or wrongly, that the British Cabinet mission double-crossed them in order to appease the National Congress.

Back in June the Congress was on the point of bolting both the constitutional assembly and the temporary government to be set up while the new constitution was shaped. The Moslems had agreed to both. The cabinet mission labored to reconcile the differences and avoid a complete failure.

The Congress balked on the temporary government issue due to differences on the proportion of Moslem representation. It finally agreed to share in the framing of the constitution, but only, reliable sources said, on condition that the British sidestep the Moslem League, which was willing to go ahead with forming a central government.

The cabinet mission decided in favor of the Congress, indicating clearly that it was convinced it must work with the Congress. Now Britain must decide whether they will work alone with the Congress, find a means of appeasing the league, or scuttle the whole affair.

Motoring Satisfaction Depends Upon the Place Where Your Car Is Serviced
The thoughtful motorist realizes that every service operation on his car, however unimportant, is essentially just as vital as the manufacture and installation of that part in the factory where the car was engineered and built.
After you take title to your car, the place where you get it serviced is the only place where a sincere and constructive interest in your motoring satisfaction can be exercised. You must depend on your service man for personal and individual consideration. This service shop is staffed and equipped to duplicate factory standards in all service operations. Here your service job is more than a ticket or a number. You and your car get individual attention plus constructive counsel and suggestion based on your car's performance and needs. This kind of service costs you no more—most often less—than merely "service."

Do You Feel Nervous And All on Edge?
People suffering from loss of appetite and run-down condition with symptoms of nerve strain often need a nerve and general tonic. Glycero-Lecithin with Vitamin B (1) supplies tonic ingredients. More Children Here In Foster Homes

Number of children receiving foster home care under the supervision of the Children's Aid Society has increased this year it was noted at a special meeting of the directors called to consider the budget to be submitted to the Community Chest.

Jack McKenzie presided and told the meeting during the first six months of 1946 there were 205 children receiving care, an increase of 15 children over the same period last year.

A summary of the society's work reviewed at the meeting showed the staff carrying twice the case load advocated for such an agency. It was pointed out additional staff may be needed to carry out increased work in all departments.

An outline of work done by the Children's Aid showed the agency was responsible for the care of dependent and neglected children; case work service to unmarried mothers; protection for illegitimate children; placement of children offered for adoption and investigation of complaints concerning neglect of chilren.

Halifax Wedding

The marriage took place recently in St. Patrick's Church, Halifax, of Margaret Mary Younes, daughter of Mrs. Susan Younes and the late A. C. Younes and James Waller, only son of Mrs. Elizabeth A. Waller, 2408 Wark Street, Victoria, and the late C. H. Waller. Following the ceremony, a reception was held in St. Mark's Hall. The couple left later by plane for a honeymoon in New York. They will make their home in Halifax for the present.

Clothes For Europe

OTTAWA (CP)—War Services Minister McCann Wednesday announced that at least another 10,000,000 pounds of clothing for distribution in Europe and China were collected during the recent national clothing drive.

"Much of this clothing already is enroute to Europe and will be the means of saving many lives this comng winter," he said in commending voluntary relief agencies and individuals for the success of their efforts.

He said that since war started more than $77,000,000 worth of supplies had been sent overseas by volunteer agencies for civilian relief.

Nursing Career Ambition Of Fine Young Girls

Like many other callings which began simply in the home or in helping out a neighbor, nursing has become a highly specialized profession. You can be brimful of good will, and certain that you're a "born nurse" but that won't tell you how to care for a patient in an oxygen tent, what to do when a baby is born, or which instruments to pass to the surgeon who is removing an appendix.

All young Victoria girls who are planning to become a nurse should read the story entitled "Your Career in Nursing" in the magazine Calling All Girls, now on sale at your magazine dealers.

Calling All Girls magazine is distributed throughout Vancouver Island by Lovick's News Agency, Victoria, B.C. ***

Lady Reading Visits New York

NEW YORK (AP)—Ordinary women working together to keep ordinary families happy and content in their daily work may be a stronger force than governments in maintaining world peace, says the Dowager Marchioness of Reading.

The tall, dark-eyed British leader, who founded the Women's Voluntary Services in wartime and still heads it in an extensive peacetime program, is making her first visit to the United States in 10 years.

"We are working to establish decency and freedom of living, and happiness and content in daily work," she said during a New York visit. "These are the things people want. When we get them we shall have contented people and families, and they make contented states, which do not go to war to settle economic troubles. I don't believe it is working on the level of nations that is going to do this job of making world peace. I believe it will be done by making happy contented families."

Then swiftly Lady Reading sketched the work of 800,000 peacetime W.V.S. workers are doing to better the lot of ordinary families.

"In England we have a greater food shortage than we did during the war," she said "So we evolved a scheme to meet it. We select a worker from each village and city street. They are taught the fundamentals of nutrition, instructed what foods are in short supply and given recipes using more plentiful foods. After they have tried out the recipes, they call on every woman in their districts, confer with her on her nutrition problems and give her the recipes and instruction which meet her needs."

Married Here, To Live In Manitoba

Gladioli formed the setting in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on the afternon of July 20 for the marriage of Katherine Jeanette, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Marr, 119 Oswego Street, and David Albert Niven, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Niven, Minitonas, Man. Rev. J. L. W. McLean performed the ceremony and C. C. Warren played the wedding music. Miss Thelma Gaetz was the soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white sheer over taffeta, fashioned with round neckline, soutache embroidered yoke, bishop sleeves and shirred waist. Her full-length embroidered silk veil was held with a coronet of orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of yellow roses. The bride's only ornament was a gold pendant.

Mrs. Vera Marr was matron of honor, wearing a toe-touching gown of ping sheer over taffeta with shirred waistline and bishop sleeves. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations and mauve sweet peas. The bride's brother, Frank Marr, was best man.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where mothers of the bridal couple received the guests. For a motor trip up-island, the bride chose a turquoise suit with white accessories and corsage bouquet of gardenias. The young couple will reside at Minitonas, Man.

Woman Major Visits War Bride Daughter

WINNIPEG (CP)—The cessation of war did not mean a holiday for Mrs. Ward Campbell, first woman to hold the rank of major in Britain's Auxiliary Territorial Service.

As a representative of the Overseas League, Mrs. Campbell, who now is visiting her daughter here, helped arrange hospitality throughout England for repatriated prisoners of war celebrating a long overdue "leave."

For five years Mrs. Campbell was an officer in the First Aid Nursing Yeomanry of the A.T.S. Such work involved driving, servicing cars and instruction. She said it was really an achievement on the part of women when they were allowed to transport ammunition in addition to manning staff cars and ambulances.

MARRIAGE NEMESIS

Once upon a time I lived next door to a woman who was an incarnation of the Perfect Lady, circa 18 60. She was the essence of conservatism. She was always poised, always correct in manner, dress and deportment, always sweet, gentle and patient. You couldn't imagine her doing anything unconventional, or straying off of the beaten path to pluck a flower by the wayside.

Then, to my intense surpise, I learned that she had divorced her first husband and remarried, and this was so out of keeping with her character that I was filled with curosity about how it happened and spent much time wondering what sort of terrible creature her number one husband could have been to drive her to the divorce court.

Could he have been a drunkard, I asked myself? But I was sure the answer was no, for that type of wife would drag a soused husband into the house and put him to bed and tell a white lie about his having taken a bad cold and not being able to go to the office. Was he a philanderer? That wouldn't account for the divorce, either. She would pretend she didn't know about the other woman and invite her to dinner.

GOOD PROVIDER, TOO

Was it poverty? Give another guess, for number one was a banker who provided her with mink coats and pearl necklaces. Was friend husband one of the men who are, as the French proverb has it, the sorrow of the home and the joy of the street? Not at all. No gentler, kinder, more amiable man ever walked to the altar.

Every surmise failed. Then, quite by accident, I met one of my neighbor's old girlhood friends and schoolmates and, getting her into a corner, I begged her to tell me—if the terrible story could be told—what crime Mrs. X's first husband had committed that made her divorce him.

"Oh," responded the woman, "he didn't do anything. He was just tedious."

Being prepared for the worst, I reeled under the shock of learning that a good man had been divorced, by his wife because he bored her. But, if the truth were known, doesn't that happen oftener than we know? In reality, doesn't tediousness wreck more homes than all of the seven deadly sins? And isn't the "mental cruelty," which so many husbands and wives accuse their mates of inflicting upon them and which they bore until they could stand it no longer, just a legal synonym for boredom?

In one of Shaw's plays there is a philandering wife who now and then takes an excursion down the primrose path and whose husband always welcomed her back with joy when she returns to the home fold, and he explains his attitude by saying "she is always so interesting when she gets back." Without going so far as that, one can say without danger of contradiction that there is no other way by which a wife can so surely keep her husband as by being an entertaining and amusing companion.

The wife who always has a new joke to tell, or a little budget of spicy gossip, or who can talk intelligently with her husband about the things he is interested in can snap her fingers in the faces of all the dull blondes in Christendom. And the same thing holds good for men. If husbands want to keep their wives, let them keep them interested.

So perhaps tediousness is the unforgivable sin in marriage, after all.

Mrs. Spratt Dies At Home

President and managing director of the Victoria Machinery Depot Co. Ltd., Mrs. C. J. V. Spratt, probably the only woman in North America to head a major shipbuilding industry, died Wednesday at her 1385 Lotbiniere Avenue home, following seven weeks' illness.

MRS. C. J. V. SPRATT

Mrs. Spratt was born Marguerite Ethel Deuel in Sacramento, Calif., 74 years ago. In 1894 she came with her husband to Victoria, where her father-in-law had established a machine shop on Bay Street. The shop eventually became V.M.D.'s yard No. 1.

On Mrs. Spratt's arrival here, she immediately took an interest in her husband's work. In 1898, V.M.D. was incorporated, and Mrs. Spratt and her husband set about their task of building up the plant.

The Victoria waterfront fire of 1908 and its dstruction of V.M.D. buildings and machinery was a serious setback, but, undaunted, they quickly shouldered the task of rebuilding V.M.D.

By 1921, Mr. Spratt's failing health caused Mrs. Spratt to become more active in conducting V.M.D.'s affairs and she was appointed president and managing director of the firm.

She continued administration of the shipyard through the years of peace and on into Word War II. In May, 1941, Mrs. Spratt purchased Rithet Docks and adjoining property and the new acquisition became V.M.D. yard No. 2, a yard soon to produce the ships desperately needed to carry war cargoes to the Allies.

Mr. Spratt died July 9 of the same year and did not see the laying of the first keel in the new yard.

First of the ships to be launched at the new yard was sponsored by Mrs. Spratt, but the ships following were christened by wives of shipyard workers.

Under Mrs. Spratt's presidency, V.M.D.'s wartime shipbuilding record was outstanding. The shipyard, during its peak, employed 3,200 men and produced a total of 25 vessels, including five corvettes and nine 10,000-ton freighters.

Mrs. Spratt leaves no children. The estate, which includes her home and V.M.D., is being handled by the Montreal Trust Co. A representative of the trust company, C. Warren, is now in the city in connection with the administration of the estate.

Private services will be held Friday at Mrs. Spratt's home, with Rev. N. S. Noel officiating. Cremation will follow.

Baby's Teeth Are There Before You Know It

THAT'S true — when baby's born, he actually has all twenty of his first teeth, and four of the permanent ones. They're hidden, of course, and still growing.

Doesn't that emphasize the importance of starting to build fine, sound teeth very, very early? That's where Carnation Milk can be important. It is rich in the bone and tooth building minerals. It's an excellent source of essential vitamin D. It provides all the other food values of good, pasteurized milk. Ask your doctor about a Carnation formula for your baby. And write for a free copy of the fine Carnation book "Your Contented Baby". Address The Carnation Co. Limited, at Toronto or Vancouver.

Students Make Up Line Of Langford Fire Defence

Bert Gillicano, foreman of the 10-man junior suppression crew which forms the first line of defence on the Langford fire front, "weighs the sticks." This device estimates the humidity of refuse on the forest floor, a determining factor in whether fires are likely to start. Gillicano, veteran of overseas service with the R.C.A.F., has completed first year at University of British Columbia, where he will major in forestry.

When an alarm has been telephoned or radioed in to the junior suppression crew headquarters, the crew in about two minutes is aboard their truck ready to go. Here is the 10-man Langford crew: Left side of the truck: A. Thomlinson, Pete Southwell, G. Coursan; right side: G. Hicks, D. Hemphill, A. Horth, S. Pedley; on seat at back, K. Morley, G. Farquhar and Gallicano. The crew is composed of U.B.C. students and ex-high school students. It is organized for speed, a vital factor in battling forest fires.

Beside pumps, trail-making tools form a major part of the equipment used by a junior suppression crew. Here the Langford crew is seen burning a slash pile during a non-hazardous period. They also make trails, cut wood for use in their camp and elsewhere when not on "stand by" alert for firefighting.

While firefighting is the major job of a junior suppression crew, the youths also receive valuable training in forestry work. Here Jack Greenhouse, ranger at the Langford station, instructs the group on use of the compass in the woods. The youths receive $90 a month, plus cost-of-living bonus and board and room during the three-month fire hazard period.

Transfer Control Of Esquimalt Cemetery

The naval and military cemetary in Esquimalt is being transferred from the jurisdiction of the Department of National Defence to the Department of Veterans' Affairs, Ald. W. L. Morgan, chairman of the Citizens Memorial Day Committee, was informed today.

This is to comply with the request made by the committee, in order that the cemetery could be used as a burial plot for all veterans of the Greater Victoria area. While the cemetery was under the control of the National Defence Department only army and navy men on active service could be buried there.

Canada's Newest Admiral Assumes Coast Command

Rear-Admiral E. R. Mainguy, O.B.E., R.C.N., Commanding Officer, Pacific Coast, and his seagoing Maltese cat.

An admiral's guard from H.M.C.S. Naden was inspected at H.M.C. Dockyard today by acting Rear-Admiral E. R. Mainguy, O.B.E., R.C.N., new Commanding Officer, Pacific Coast, who took over the command from retired Rear-Admiral V. G. Brodeur, C.B., C.B.E., R.C.N.

The 45-year-old commanding officer of the navy's Pacific Coast command was promoted to the acting rank of Rear-Admiral following an announcement by Hon. D. C. Abbott, Minister of National Defence for Naval Services. Admiral Mainguy had been promoted in July to the rank of Commodore.

BORN AT CHEMAINUS

A native of Chemainus, B.C., Admiral Mainguy rose from a cadet in 1915 to a lieutenant in 1921 and thereafter saw service aboard H.M.C.S. Aurora and H.M.C.S. Patriot, at the R.C.N. barracks, Esquimalt and Naval Service Headquarters, Ottawa.

At the beginning of World War II, he was in command of the destroyer H.M.C.S. Assiniboine and later H.M.C.S. Ottawa. On June 1, 1941, he was promoted captain and became Captain (D) Halifax and later held a similar appointment at Newfoundland. It was in this latter appointment where he took steps to ease the extremely heavy strain which U-boat warfare had imposed on officers and men and organized that well-known meeting place "The Crow's Nest" and a rest camp for men near St. John's.

Admiral Mainguy was appointed to N.S.H.Q. as Chief of Naval Personnel and third member of the naval board.

COMMANDED UGANDA

In 1944, he was appointed as commanding officer of Canada's first modern cruiser, H.M.C.S. Uganda which saw action against the Japanese in the bombardment of Okinawa and Truk.

On Feb. 5 of this year, Uganda sailed from Esquimalt on a training cruise to South America.

While serving as Commanding Officer, Pacific Coast, Admiral and Mrs. Mainguy and their three children will take up residence in Dockyard House, official residence at the Pacific coast base.

Dividing Line Proposed For Saanich Municipality

A special committee of H. Oldfield and R. R. F. Sewell has submitted to Municipal Affairs Minister R. C. MacDonald a report proposing a dividing line between the rural and urban sections for the division of Saanich municipality.

The provincial government will facilitate the division subject to the approval of the ratepayers.

It is believed the rural areas of Saanich would retain the name Saanich and the inner section would either become a new municipality or else be incorporated into Victoria.

Token Exports Only Of Scarce Goods

OTTAWA (CP)—M. W. Mackenzie, Deputy Minister of Trade and Commerce, faced a barrage of questions in the Senate finance committee Wednesday as to why goods were being exported to other countries when sorely needed in Canada.

The policy of the department, he said, was to try to hold the markets which Canada had supplied before the war by making small shipments even when they were in short supply in Canada.

To the complaint that Canadian-made shirts for men had been bought in United States at more than double the Canadian price, and yet men could not get shirts in the country, Mr. Mackenzie said only "a couple of handful" of Canadian shirts had been exported to the United States. After all Canada got cotton to produce those shirts from the United States.

Victoria Kiwanis Club annual golf tournament will be held one week today on the Colwood links. Main prize at stake is the Ab Humphries Trophy. Postpone Lacrosse

Because of a lack of funds, the parks committee is recommending that the hard surfacing of the lacrosse box at Stevenson Memorial Park be referred to next year's estimates committee, Ald. D. D. McTavish, committee chairman, said following a meeting.

An estimate of costs was received, Ald. McTavish said, and it would cost approximately $3,400 to do the necessary work.

Use of Macdonald Park was granted the Victoria Model Airplane Club for Sunday, Sept. 22, to hold a model airplane flying contest.

In 1858 the cable rate between Great Britain and North America was $5 a word.

Pageant Portrays History Of Catholic Missionaries

A packed house watched the colorful and historical pageant "The Tenth Decade," written by Sister Mary Dorothea, Sister of St. Ann, depicting 100 years of the Catholic Church in Victoria, at the Royal Theatre, Wednesday night.

The singing of Schubert's "Jubilate Deo" by St. Andrew's Cathedral Choir, under direction of Father A. Leonard, provided the setting for the three-part pageant, which was dedicated to the memory of the valiant Demers, the intrepid Seghers and all the pioneer missionaries of British Columbia and Alaska. It commemorated the 100th anniversary of the diocese of Victoria.

Part II of the pageant opened with Modeste Demers, who became first bishop of Vancouver Island 1846 to 1856, in his family home of St. Nicholas, Quebec, telling his parents he wished to be a priest. Then follows the story of his apostolate with the Hudson's Bay Brigade, which arrived at Fort Vancouver on the Lower Columbia River in 1838.

"In making me Bishop His Holiness has cut off my feet," cries Father Demers as he receives news that he has been appointed to the Diocese of Vancouver's Island, July 28, 1846.

Consecrated at Oregon City in 1847, Bishop Demers found himself in charge of "some 30,000 Indians." With James Pickford portraying Bishop Demers, the pageant depicts the latter's arrival at Victoria in 1852, his visit to the Cowichan Village in 1855.

A tableau shows Archbishop Seghers, the "Apostle of Alaska," leaving Victoria on his fifth trip to the Northland in 1886. The pageant closed with a tableau, in which all Catholic organizations in the city were represented.

A highlight of the pageant was the "Dance of the Thunderbird," portrayed by Duncan Indians in their tribal regalia. Members of the Victoria Symphony Orchestra, under direction of Melvin Knudsen, provided the musical settings. Members of the C.Y.O., students of St. Ann's Academy and St. Louis College, with a group from the Victoria Little Theatre, and native dancers from Duncan, comprised the cast. Donald Mulcahy was narrator.

Sister Mary Dorothea, the author, produced the pageant. Gregory Crawley was director, and Christopher Frere, assistant director. Choral work was by St. Andrew's Cathedral Choir and staging by the Sisters of St. Ann.

Sheila Says 'No'

Romance has been nipped sharply and severely in the bud.

Sheila, who so intrigued Edward Anderson of Cummings, Calif., that he wrote City Clerk M. F. Hunter asking for assistance in finding her again after he met her on a bus, is not interested in renewing acquaintances with the young man.

Having identified herself as the "Sheila" of the letter, the 19-year-old Victoria girl said definitely that she did not want him to find out who she is, as he "was just a man who sat next to me on the bus."

Mrs. Minnie Moore Dies

Mrs. Minnie Griffiths Moore, 69, former proprietor of the Nutshell restaurant on Fort Street, passed away Wednesday at her residence, 1082 Richmond Road, following a lengthy illness.

Mrs. Moore was born in Bucks County, Pennsylvania, and had been a resident of Victoria for the past 28 years. She leaves two daughters, Mrs. John Hamilton Stubbs of Victoria and Mrs. Helen M. Baldridge of Philadelphia. Funeral service will be held at Oak Bay United Church Friday, at 2.30, Rev. W. W. McPherson officiating, interment at Royal Oak.

Blessing Babies At Catholic Centenary

Proud mothers with babies interestedly watch ceremony on lawn at Loretto Hall.

They wore their best silk bib and tucker and behaved themselves just as babies from a few weeks to seven months, will behave, when their proud mamas entered them in the baby show held at Loretto Hall Wednesday afternoon in connection with celebrations of the centenary of the Roman Catholic diocese of Victoria.

Nearly 200 parents, relatives and friends gathered on the greens, beneath a big welcome sign, to watch 35 babies born in the centenary year being blessed individually by Right Rev. Abbot Thomas Meier, O.S.B., of St. Benedict's Abbey, Mount Angel, Oregon.

Msgr. T. M. Nichol and Father W. O'Brien assisted at the blessing. The show was held under auspices of the Diocesan Council of the C.Y.O. with Eileen Griffin in charge.

Taking both the first prize for the boy under seven months and the grand prize for both age groups was red-haired Roy Fletcher, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Fletcher, 962 Heywood Ave. First prize for the girl under seven months and the grand prize for both age groups was awarded to Judith Price, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Price, 990 Lodge Street.

First prize for the girl under four months went to Beverly Jackson and second prize to smiling Bonnie Barker, Seven-weeks-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Barker, 33 Maddock Ave. First prize for the boy under four months was awarded to Stephen Leahy, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Leahy and second prize to Bruce Kowalski.

Second prize for the boy under seven months went to John Anderson and to the girl under seven months, Patricia Rourke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Rourke, 150 Government.

Bishop John C. Cody presented the medals and prizes.

"They were a healthy lot of babies," according to Doctors Vincent W. Smith and John D. Stenstrom, who acted as judges.

Student nurses from St. Joseph's Hospital who assisted the doctors were: Yvonne Shellinck, Audrey Keyt, Barbara Arac, Barbara Balkovec, Phyllis Fitzpatrick. Sister Mary Finton, supervisor of St. Joseph's maternity ward, was present.

Among babies at the show were Mary Joan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Bourne, 1430 Begbie; four-week-old Art Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Thompson, 427 Heather, and Elaine Yvonne Grant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Grant, 460 Quebec.

Start Registration At Victoria College

Registration for what may be the heaviest year in college history started at Victoria College today, and will continue until the opening of the term in September, Dr. J. M. Ewing, college principal, announced.

Staff members will be on hand between 10 and 12 in the mornings and 2 and 4 in the afternoons to register students and give them advice about courses, Dr. Ewing said.

He anticipated that registration would be as heavy, or heavier than it was for the 1945-46 term, when 490 students attended classes.

Dr. Ewing gave assurance, however, that there would be no attempt to limit registration, no matter how crowded the school was, even if it meant running double shifts on classes.

"We were virtually doing that last year," he commented, "and certainly we used every available square inch of space for classrooms. However, we did manage to carry on and we will do it again this year."

200 Permits Issued

Permits to cut 1,500 cords of wood have been issued to 200 Victorians by the Vancouver Island Joint Labor Conference which adminsters the cutting of fuel on a wood lot at Florence Lake.

Three drag saws are available for the woodcutters who may rent them for a nominal fee.

The wood is provided by the B.C. Forest Service without stumpage charges.

Use Swordfish Planes In Canadian Navy

Eleven Swordfish aircraft, of the type that made naval air combat history during the past war, are being flown to naval divisions across Canada to be used in training personnel of the Royal Canadian Navy (Reserve), it was announced today at naval service headquarters.

It will be the last flight for the aircraft—long obsolete as fighting planes—and they will be used for the ground training of officers and men in the theoretical and mechanical aspects of flying. Six other divisions, lacking facilities to accommodate a complete aircraft, will be supplied with engines and equipment for instructional purposes.

Dates of arrival of aircraft, which will be flown by officers of the Royal Canadian Navy, will be dependent on flying weather.

Close Activities At Summer School

As a wind-up for Summer School of Education activities, the classes staged displays of their work Wednesday.

Last classes are being held today, and examinations will be given Friday. By Saturday the majority of the 850 students who have been thronging the halls of Victoria High School for the past month, will be en route to their homes in various parts of Canada.

The primary grade teachers showed project work, and a picture exhibit was also given. In the gymnasium Miss Betty Lynd Thompson and her class in the modern dance showed the results of the past month's teaching.

The final Summer School dance will be held at Club Sirocco Friday.

Labor Leaders Hit Wage-Boost Ceiling

VANCOUVER (CP) — Labor leaders here Wednesday night protested "possible disruption" of British Columbia industry by "attempts by Ottawa to set a ceiling on wage increases."

Ten major C.C.L.-affiliated unions have sent wires to the Commons industrial relations committee and to members of Parliament for British Columbia saying that "any attempt to use governmental machinery to rob workers of hard won and completely justified wage increases already granted by employers will result in extremely serious disruption in B.C. industry.

A similar protest was wired by the Vancouver, New Westminster and District Trades and Labor Council (A.F.L.), according to secretary R. K. Gervin.

Local unions are "seriously disturbed" by statements of deputy labor minister MacNamara, indicating refusal of already-granted 15-cents houfly wage increases, officials said.

In Ottawa, Mr. MacNamara told the committee "we are worried" about the 15 cent increase granted B.C. loggers "and the danger of setting a 15-cent pattern is evident."

Will Seek Parleys

OTTAWA (CP) Mr. Justice S. E. Richards of Winnipeg has been asked to attempt to arrange conferences between the International Typographical Union (A.F.L.) and the Southam Publishing Co. Labor Minister Mitchell said the judge had not been appointed a commissioner but would act informally.

A disputes commission which investigated the dispute between the union and the Vancouver Province, a Southam newspaper, recommended last week that an attempt be made to get top officials of the two groups together. The commission said it saw no likelihood of an agreement being reached through local negotiations in Vancouver.

The Canadian Chamber of Commerce will hold its 17th annual meeting in Winnipeg Oct. 8, 9 and 10, George I. Warren, managing secretary of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, announced today. At the meeting members will discuss major problems facing business during the reconversion period. C. Gordon Cockshutt, president of the Canadian Chamber, asks members to consider the meeting as an opportunity to express their views and help obtain a coordinated policy based on those views to serve as a program of work for the directors for the next year.

Upsets Mark Canadian Golf; Morrison Out

EDMONTON (CP)—No one ever dreamed it could happen but it did and today three of Ontario's hottest threats were missing as the fourth round of firing began in the 1946 tournament for the Canadian amateur golf crown.

Victims of the upset storm which sensationalized third-round play were all old links masters—Phil Farley and Nick Wisnock from down Toronto way and Jack Nash from London, Ont. They fell before the giant killing of a pair of dark-horse British Columbians, Dave Dixon and Jack Ellis of Vancouver, and one from the province of Quebec, Roland Brault.

The disaster which left only two Ontario players in the tournament failed to strike elsewhere and still hard in the running were the quiet defending champion, Vancouver's Ken Black, Alberta amateur champ Henry Martell runner-up for Black's crown in 1939 and such fellows as 1932 amateur champ Gordon Taylor of Montreal; Rudy Horvath, the unpredictable from Windsor, Winnipeg's Howard Bennett and Long-driving Jimmy Hogan of Jasper, Alta.

Bob Morrison, Victoria city champion, was eliminated from the championship 1 up by J. Ltke, Edmonton.

Looking over this favorite-riddled field as it sped toward the quarter-finals this afternoon and the semifinals tmorrow, many thought they could see another Black-Martell final shaping up as it did when the amateur crown was last played for in 1939.

The Farley-Nash-Wisnock disaster was admittedly a result of "off-game" play by the Ontarians rather than sensational golf by their victors.

Ellis, a 32-year-old from Vancouver's Marine Drive Club, was 2 up on Farley at the turn but the Ontario veteran had a 4 over card of 39. The easterner picked up on the 10th after going in the trees but the match got hot again on the 16th where Farley cut the deficit to a hole. They split the short 17th in par 3's when both putts rimmed the cup.

Ellis got down in four after a nice recovery out of a green-side trap at the 18th and Farley, who dropped a beautiful second 15 feet from the pin, had a chance for a birdie three to square the match. But the eastern veteran failed to drop it and it ended there.

It was the same story with Nash who went down 6 and 5 before Dave Dixon, Vancouver veteran of the Canadian army who was wounded three times overseas but who came home to win the New Westminster amateur title.

Wisnock said he had no excuses except his game "went sour" following his 2 and 1 defeat by Rolland Brault of Cowansville, Que., former Quebec amateur champion and links campaigner of some 15 years standing.

Bob Brown Favors Post-Season Series

Bob Brown, manager of the Vancouver Capilanos of the Western International League, has given his okay to the post season series here in September between his club and Victoria Athletics for the western Canada professional baseball championship.

It is planned to play a seven-game series with the first game scheduled for Vancouver Sept. 10. Clubs will then come to Victoria to complete the play-off.

Victoria Gun Club Shoot Billed Sunday

Cardinals Hit Hatten Hard To Defeat Dodgers

Leo Durocher of Brooklyn's Dodgers, whose unorthodox managerial moves have pulled many a game out of the fire this year, saw his latest bit of strategy backfire on him yesterday as the second-place St. Louis Cardinals belabored Southpaw Joe Hatten and two successors for 15 hits and a 10 to 3 victory over the National League leaders.

The Card triumph even the "crucial" series between the two contenders and once again the Brooks' lead stands at 2½ games with the rubber contest to be played today.

Before the important three-game tussle, Durocher announced Rube Melton, a non-winner up to then, would work the opener if Eddie Dyer's selection was Howie Pollet, the Card's ace.

"I figure if Pollett, who already has licked us three times, is right, he will be tought to beat," said Durocher. "So why should I waste my top hurler? Hatten figures to beat any other St. Louis starter. If we're lucky with Melton in the first, we should grab the first two quick and set them back on their heels."

Leo's luck appeared in when Melton outpitched Pollet Tuesday night to skyrocket Brooklyn's lead to 3½ games.

But Hatten got his ears pinned back, and Murray Dickson, recently elevated from relief roles, held the Brooks at bay while the redbirds pounded out their biggest hit total in four weeks.

FELLER HOT AGAIN

The Card-Dodger tussle partly overshadowed Bobby Feller's scintillating one-hit pitching exhibition against Boston Red Sox as he registered his 20th victory by twirling Cleveland Indians to a 4 to 1 victory.

Detroit Tigers replaced New York Yankees as Boston's closest rival by defeating the Bronxites 6 to 0 to wrest second place from their victims by one percentage point. Both teams trail the Red Sox by 12½ games.

Claude Passeau pitched the third-place Chicago Cubs to an 8 to 1 victory over New York Giants.

Jackson, Marconini Win Doubles Honors

Harry Jackson and Alf Marconini of the Victoria Lawn Bowling Club were crowned doubles champions of Greater Victoria Tuesday night when they defeated Harry Davis and D. Evans 18 to 17 in the final at the Beacon Hill Park greens of the Victoria club. At the end of regulation ends the two pair were tied, and in the extra end the Victoria club representatives scored the marginal point to lift the Wilkinson Cup.

Visitors Dominate B.C. Tennis

Hank Bennett Beaten

Al Fleigner of Berkeley and Claude Hockley of Portland provided the upsets for the seeded players yesterday in the B.C tennis championships. Fleigner, northern California's 10th ranking player, proved too steady for Henry Bennett, who seemed to have trouble with overhead smashes and deep ground strokes. Games were four all in the first set and 30-15, Bennett leading, when he drove an easy overhead smash into the net. From then on Fleigner took over, winning with the loss of only two more games, scores being 6-4, 6-2.

Hockley, smiling ambassador from the Rose City, unseated 16-year-old Herb Suhr of San Francisco in a three-set match 6-2, 2-6, 6-2. Hockley, showing more court generalship than his young opponent, seemed to be content to wait for placements, especially in the final set. Mel Dranga, who has only lost five games in his last three matches, advanced to the quarter finals with an easy win over Jack Milledge, local junior champ. Also advancing at the same time were Bud Gilmore of Salem and Sam Lee from Portland.

MARATHON MATCH

Humphries and Dunbar got into another marathon in the men's doubles with Bennett and Ryall, losing 10-8 in the first set after leading 5-3, and then fading to lose the second 6-2.

In this afternoon's matches, Sutton of Berkeley, seeded one, meets Fleigner, while Dranga and Oswald, both of Seattle, meet in what promises to be another interesting singles encounter. A couple of interesting doubles matches are scheduled for 5, one mixed with Miss Ross of Seattle and Sutton of Berkeley against Miss Jackson of Victoria and Sam Lee of Portland, while in the men's Ryall and Bennett of Victoria match strokes with Bostick and Oswald of Seattle, assuring late afternoon spectators of some more hard fought and evenly contested matches.

'Y' Swimmers Shatter Five Records; In Mainland Meets

Coach Archie McKinnon's highly-touted Flying "Y" swimmers, virtually on the eve of their departure for mainland soil to participate in two swimming meets, did some sensational water-churning last night in official time trials to crack five more Canadian records.

Following this display of his swimmers' qualities, McKinnon today voiced the opinion: "Both the boys and girls are knuckling down and swimming at their best. If the United States' opposition in the Kelowna meet is not too strong, I believe my team will collect a good share of the honors."

The Vic "Y" club will apply to the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association for recognition of its swimmers' latest record-smashing achievements through the B.C. section of that body. Max Kilburger, for several years head time-keeper in swim meets here, was in that role last night. Other clockers were George B. Murdie, Bob Johnstone, Ron Neilson and Jim McKeller. Jack Todd was referee, Marg Naysmith, the recorder and president of the club, George Morgan, the starter.

THE RECORDS BROKEN

The records broken were: Joan Morgan—40-yard senior women's breaststroke, 26 flat. Old record 26.2 by Bernice Belbeck, Hamilton Athletic Club, April 26, 1941, at Windsor.

Peter Salmon—Junior 40 yards breaststroke, 22.6. Old record 24.8 by E. Feehan, Saskatoon Swimming Club, Aug. 24, 1940. Also shattered own mark of 1.22 in the 120 yards individual medley junior event with time of 1.18.6.

Ina Salmon—Senior 40 yards breaststroke, 27 flat. Old record 27.8 by E. Erskine, Mermaid Swimming Club of Toronto, May 31, 1937.

Junior 120 yards medley relay—Jack Morgan, backstroke; Salmon, breaststroke, and Jack Creedon, freestyle, 1.9.4. Old record 1.11.2 set by High Park team of Toronto, Feb. 12, 1938.

In addition to 17 members of the "Y" club attending the Dundarave regatta in West Vancouver and the two-day Kelowna classic, eight of the best of the Victoria Amateur Swimming Club will participate in both. All leave the city tomorrow. Vancouver meet is Saturday afternoon and the interior swimfest Aug. 7 and 8. Both shows have B.C. section of the C.A.S.A. sanction and have a big collection of provincial titles at stake. Salmon, regarded as one of the most outstanding juniors in Canada, swims as a junior in Vancouver. When he gets to Kelowna he will be a senior.

After the Kelowna meet, which is regarded as the most entertaining and colorful of swimming classics in B.C. each year, some of McKinnon's team are slated to go to Wiliams Lake.

The Victoria "Y" team making the trip follows: Senior men—Ron Neilson, club captain; Bill Turkington, Dick Bowden, Len Cloverdale and Salmon; junior boys — Creedon, Morgan, Eric Jubb (still on a flying trip to Calgary) and Lorne Bowden; senior women—Salmon, Morgan and Aileen Smyth; junior girls—Myfanwy Nixon, Jean Mills, Audrey Schofield and Marg Freeman.

The V.A.S.C. swimmers include: Junior boys—Jack Wellburn, Miles Dieghton and Bill Langford; senior women—Kay Sealy, Lorna Lea and Marion Austin; senior men—Bill Doddridge; juvenile girls—Margaret Ward. Team will be in charge of Jim McCague, club president.

Gridders Open Practice Sunday For Fall Season

Gridiron warriors who will sport the colors of Victoria Mustangs in senior company this fall will open a conditioning program Sunday morning at Macdonald Park to prepare for their campaign in the revived "Big Four" League this fall.

It was learned today from chief Mustangs' coach Bill Bishop that his boys will be shooting to keep the Lipton Cup, symbolical of supremacy in the circuit, in Victoria. The silverware was captured by Victoria Revellers in 1940 when the war forced a close-down in this competition.

In this loop Victoria forms the opposition against Vancouver squads in play under American rules. Two teams in the mainland city are assured and there is a possibility of a third.

In addition to league clashes with Vancouver here and away, the Mustangs will be seen in exhibition tilts against Bellingham. "We are also endeavoring to line-up Port Angeles and Everett for games," said Bishop. In any case, he assures that there will be international competition here in addition to intercity duels.

Ed Rorvig, now a city resident but who was a former star halfback with the Calgary Bronks and saw action prior to that in the north states, has been secured to take over the backfield coaching of the team and Jimmy Smith, a well-known figure in the sport here, will be the line coach.

"We are going to start practices Sunday morning at 10 at the James Bay park. These will continue weekly until the last week in August and then we will start nightly practices so that the team should be in top shape for its opening competition late in September," Bishop reported.

Efforts are being made to secure Athletic Park for a game under the lights Sept. 21, with Bellingham providing the opposition for the locals. If plans are successful it will be the first time in the history of sport here for action under lights.

It is understood that 40 local stalwarts have been lined up for the Mustang roster, composed of last year's Mustangs and also the best material seen in action during this year's spring league.

Jokers, Foul Bay In Boxla Clash

Jokers and Foul Bay box lacrosse teams will be gunning for sole occupation of the second berth in the Victoria association standings when they tangle tonight in the Stevenson Memorial Park Box, starting at 6.45. They are four-point teams along with Tillicums. A good battle is the prediction with both clubs trotting out their best available material.

LOCAL GOLFRS TRAVEL

Thirty-two players from the Victoria Golf Club will journey to Seattle this week to engage a squad from the Seattle Club in the second half of an intercity match Saturday. In the first meeting here in May the local players gained a one-point lead.

A's Defeat Spokane, Battle Here Tonight

Victors in two out of three games at Spokane as the result of an 11 to 9 triumph last night, Victoria Athletics were back home today to engage Spokane in a four-game Western International League series at Athletic Park, starting tonight. Clubs will play another single tilt tomorrow evening and two on Saturday. Next week, starting Tuesday, the A's battle Yakima over the seven-game route.

Tonight's baseball program will be augmented by a return appearance of Johnny Price, rated one of the greatest trick performers in the history of the sport. Price will open his half-hour show at 7.45 with the game to start immediately after.

Before Spokane closes out its series with Victoria the club expects valuable player assistance from Brooklyn Dodgers with whom owner Sam Collins completed a working agreement Wednesday. The Indians' franchise and physical assets remain with Collins but the Dodgers have the power to select players for the team. Brooklyn has agreed to the retention of Ben Geraghty as manager next season.

SIGN MUSGRAVE

In a move to bolster their pitching staff the Athletics last night signed Tommy Musgrave to a contract which calls for the Victoria pitcher to don a uniform for all home games. With 23 games here this month Musgrave is liable to see plenty of action.

Last night's game at Spokane saw the Athletics turn on their former teammate, pitcher Al Raimondi, to gain their win. Victoria opened with a two-run rally in the first inning and were never headed. Tony Ferrara was the winning hurler, but had to get help from Joe Blankenship after working five and a third innings. Athletics picked up 11 hits, including a home run by Pete Hughes, off Raimondi and Tising, and cashed in on five Spokane errors.

Spokane's hitters were even more effective, collecting 13 blows off Ferrara and Blankenship.

Rallying for four runs to tie the count in the ninth inning, Wenatchee went on to score a single tally in the 11th inning last night for a 5 to 4 victory over the Salem Senators. The win increased the Chiefs lead to three full games.

Taking advantage of 13 hits and seven errors, Yakima scored a 12 to 5 victory over Tacoma.

Bremerton and Vancouver were rained out and will play a double-header in the Canadian city tonight.

The DOCTOR Says:

EAR WAX MAY IMPAIR HEARING IN SUMMER

By WILLIAM A. O'BRIEN, M.D.

The commonest cause of a loss of hearing in young people in the summertime is an accumulation of wax in the ear. Infections in the canal just inside the ear are more apt to be due to ordinary skin bacteria than to fungi.

Itching infected ears may be complicated by boils which are extremely painful. The infected ear is tender when it is wiggled or when pressure is applied on the glands just below it.

Sulfa drugs are used locally in the ear canal and are given by mouth to overcome the infection (penicillin is also of value). The condition commonly clears up after a few days of this treatment.

Extra ear wax is most common in adolescence and early adult life, because of the over-activity of all skin glands (producing oil, sweat and wax) at this time of life.

If extra wax accumulates in the ear, it shuts out sound waves. When the wax is hard we can tolerate a good deal of it, but when it is softened by water (as a result of swimming) it clogs the canal.

HARD OBJECTS DAMAGE EAR

There is an old saying that one should never put anything smaller than his elbow into his ear. This is good advice for every one, especially those with itching infected ears, or with ears that have become filled with wax.

Damage may result from trying to pick the ears with a hard object. The excess wax should be washed out with warm water.

The patient should sit in a good light, with a towel over his shoulder; a kidney-shaped basin should be held under the ear, to catch the returning water. The syringe (the tip of which should be scalded before insertion) is filled with warm water and the air is expelled.

The ear can be pulled backward and upward, and the point of the syringe can be gently inserted at one side as a gentle stream is allowed to play into the canal in such a way that the fluid returns beside the nozzle. Tilting the head to one side helps the water to return.

When no more wax is found in the wash, gently insert a cotton swab on a stick and remove the rest. If this does not relieve the condition, a physician should be consulted, as a foreign body may have lodged in the canal.

Insects can crawl into the ear, especially that of a child, and while they are moving around they cause a great deal of distress. They can be removed at this stage by dropping chloroform into the ear, to kill them first.

Insects have been known to remain in the ear for years. When these long-time intruders are removed, they are found to be coated with a heavy layer of wax.

Earache in the summer may be caused by an infection in the middle ear. Usually tenderness and fever are involved, and when the ear is examined by a physician the drum is found bulging.

It is not wise to neglect an earache in the hope that the pain will stop of its own accord. If the pain persists, the physician should be called, so that the drum can be opened and the proper treatment started.

BRITISH GUIANA HAS "FALL OF THE OLD MAN"

South America has a waterfall with a queer name. It is known as the "Fall of the Old Man."

That waterfall is in British Guiana. If you asked thhe reason for its name, you might be told the following story:

"Long ago, according to an India legend there was an old man who was doomed to die by the tribe. He was put in a canoe and tied in place. Then the canoe was set drifting down the Potaro river.

"The current took the canoe and its passenger to the brink of the great fall. Over the brink the old man went, and tumbled far, far downward.

"Later the people of the tribe found that an amazing thing had happened. The man had turned to stone, along with his canoe!

"Because of that event, the waterfall was given the Indian name of 'Kaieteur', meaning 'Fall of the Old Man'."

To this day a visitor is able to see two rocks at the base of the waterfall. One rock has roughly the shape of a canoe, the other the shape of an old man.

Those rocks seem to have taken their shapes from the work of wind and water. Nature, now and then, works on rocks until they happen to have the shape of certain objects. For example there is a large rock, known as "Elephant Rock," near the side of Devil's Lake in Wisconsin. This rock has the outline of an elephant, and it was carved by Nature during the course of many centuries.

The Fall of the Old Man is one of the great waterfalls of the world. In the middle of the dry season, it is 120 feet wide. In the wet season, the river is about 400 feet wide when it tumbles down.

The water drops straight downward for a distance of 741 feet. This is almost four and a half times the drop of the highest part of Niagara Falls.

In an atlas it is common to list the Fall of the Old Man under the native name of Kaieteur Fall.

Promise City Ample Wood For Winter

George Armstrong, district fuel officer for Vancouver Island, today assured Ald. H. M. Diggon, chairman of the city fuel committee, that he would keep the city informed of any change in the fuel picture, and that should severe winter weather warrant it, he would see that sufficient wood and sawdust supplies are diverted to the city from up-island.

At the present time, Mr. Armstrong reported, there appears to be sufficient wood supplies in the city unless next winter should be usually severe. He suggested, however, that householders should give their orders for their winter supplies of both wood and sawdust as quickly as possible.

In his meeting with Ald. Diggon Mr. Armstrong gave assurance that city supplies would be maintained even if it meant paying a subsidy to wood-dealers and millowners up-island to get the wood down here.

He is leaving for the northern part of the island Thursday to canvass the situation there, he said, having now ascertained the needs here.

Air Cadets Begin Glider Training At Patricia Bay

At Patricia Bay Airport today, B.C. air cadets began a glider training program which will continue until the end of the month.

Three gliders are being used in the training program. They are two single-passenger Kirby Kadets and one two-passenger Sweizer glider, imported from the U.S.

J. B. Taylor, manager of the Victoria and Island Soaring and Gliding Club and the Victoria Flying Club, said today there were only a few Victoria boys taking the course owing to the fact Victoria had no air cadet squadrons at the present time.

Among the first to be trained will be 10 officer cadets, who, if they pass their tests satisfactorily, will be used as instructors for the other cadets.

While the cadets are on training flights, two-way radio communication is maintained.

The cadets are under the command of Ernest Petriess, Vancouver. John Watt, also of Vancouver, is doing instructional work with Mr. Taylor.

City Tax Collection Over 50 Per Cent

Tax collections in Victoria have now passed the 50 per cent mark with $935,775 on current taxes having been paid on the levy of $1,693,857 by the end of July.

This is well ahead of last year's collections for the first seven months of the year when $896,504 had been paid up.

Payment of arrears is lagging slightly behind last year's figure, with $49,128 having been paid in arrears this year, compared with $51,981 in 1945. However, there were much less arrears to collect, and on a percentage basis the collections of arrears are better.

Taxes paid between now and Sept. 1 will still receive interest of 4 per cent until Oct. 2, when a 1 per cent penalty will be imposed on all unpaid taxes. A further 1 per cent penalty will be added Nov. 2, another 1 per cent Nov. 16, and a 3 per cent penalty Dec. 3, bringing the total penalty to 6 per cent.

Good Progress Made In Building Peace Outlet Through Pine Pass

Satisfactory progress is being made on the construction of the road outlet from the Peace River district through Pine Pass, Premier John Hart and Works Minister E. C. Carson said today in a joint announcement.

The road is the largest single highway undertaking ever carried out by the public works department of the province.

Progress was being made, the announcement said, despite the handicaps imposed on the contractors by the very severe winter and heavy spring thaws.

Reconstruction of the old road and grading and graveling on the section westward from Dawson Creek between Progress and East Pine, is being pressed forward night and day and it is expected that this section will be completed by the end of November. The contract for this work is held by Campbell-Mannix Construction Company.

BRIDGE PIERS GOING IN

At East Pine, piers are now being laid for the bridge to cross East Pine River. Into this 600 foot structure will go 500 tons of steel, the substructure and steel work expected to be completed by late fall. Laying a concrete deck across the bridge will not be undertaken until next spring. The deck will be 112 feet above the river.

No contract has yet been let for the section from East Pine to Commotion Creek where an old road exists to the oil drilling operations. It is expected the contract for rebuilding this section, 42 miles long, will total $650,000.

From Commotion Creek to Pine River Crossing an entirely new right-of-way has been constructed for 40 miles. It is now only 20 miles short of the summit of the pass. The elevation there is 2,850 feet.

Commons Studies 12 Measures To Round Out Veterans' Charter

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons Wednesday began study of the first of 12 bills which eventually will form part of Canada's veterans' charter, and also devoted two hours to discussion of the shortage of farm implements on the prairies.

The first veterans' bill to come before the House was one amending the Pensions Act and suggestions were heard for more generous treatment for veterans of the two Great Wars.

Howard Green, P.C., Vancouver South, served notice he would renew efforts to have the Veterans' Department agree that a veteran should not be denied a pension because of a pre-enlistment disability if he was accepted as medically fit for service.

A veteran of the First Great War, Mr. Green said medical examinations in the Second Great War were much stiffer than those during the First Great War. He felt that if a veteran of the recent war was accepted as medically fit any deterioration in health thereafter should be attributed to service and not to pre-enlistment causes.

Five other members spoke before second reading was given the bill.

Earlier, the House had debated for more than two hours the farm implement situation in Canada after Percy Wright, C.C.F., Melfort, Sask., had obtained adjournment of the ordinary business of the House.

Prairie members criticized the government's handling of the implement situation, and some of them called for the suspension of exports to other countries. Reconstruction Minister Howe said the government "fully" recognized the needs of the home market for farm implements, and was taking care of that market to a "higher degree" than any other consumer country.

GIVEN AWAY, HE SAYS

J. F. Pouliot, Ind. Lib., Temiscouata, Que., said 500 Canadian trucks, badly needed by Canadian farmers, had been "given away to Finland, an enemy country."

Mr. Pouliot said Canada was still at war with Finland and he believed Canadians should be served "before the enemy."

"We are run by Stalin, Bevin, Byrnes, Chiang Kai-shek and Tito. They are the ones who run the country," he said. "They are the bosses of U.N. and the bosses of Unrra."

Bribery Charge Against Chinese

Chow Quon was remanded in city police court today until tomorrow on a charge of offering a policeman, Constable Robert Morris, a $45 bride while the policeman was carrying out law enforcement duties.

The charge read that he offered the policeman, who was then engaged in the prosecution of offenders, a sum of $45 with intent to interfere corruptly with due administration of justice.

Bail of $1,000 with one or two sureties was set for the Chinese.

240 Jubilant Cubs Go To Sooke Camp

Two hundred and forty Greater Victoria 10-year-old boys who wear the uniform of the Wolf Cubs and 20 leaders left the city from the Johnson Street Scout headquarters this morning in a fleet of navy conveyances for Sooke to spend a short period of outdoor life at Camp Barnard.

The camp, donated by Senator and Mrs. Barnard as a token of their appreciation for the valuable work done for youth by the Scouting movement, is on the shores of Young Lake. Hundreds of the older Scouts have enjoyed camping periods at the lake this summer and more will attend following the five-day cub session.

Sleeping quarters are tents. Swimming, hiking, woodcraft-teaching, evening camp fires and almost everything that goes with camp life for the under teen-age set are on the agenda for the period.

The headquarters and near vicinity presented a busy sight this morning as preparations were made for the trip. It took four of the huge navy floats to convey the youngsters, all keyed to a high pitch of excitement over their sojourn in the outdoors. Two large trucks were required to handle the boys' baggage.

Commenting on the jubilation shown by the boys as they prepared to leave, District Cubmaster Jean Parker said: "These boys regard the camp as a big, glorified picnic." Cubmaster Lillian Lucas, Field Commission Freeman King and District Commission H. B. Hunter are the four figures around which the camp will operate.

Search Abandoned For Missing Pilot

EDMONTON (CP)—One of the most prolonged aerial and ground searches in the history of the northwest came to an end Wednesday as officials at the Northwest Air Command here announced they were calling off the month-old search for Joe Barber, Jamestown, N.Y., civilian pilot.

The hunt for Barber began after his plane had disappeared June 28 while en route on a trip to Alaska. He was flying one of two planes being ferried to Fairbanks, Alaska, at the time he disappeared.

Cardinal James McGuigan, Archbishop of Toronto, arrived in Victoria this afternoon to participate in the Centenary celebration of the diocese of Victoria.

Met by church dignitaries and members of Catholic congregations throughout the city, Cardinal McGuigan was honored at a reception in St. Ann's Academy.

During his stay in the city, Cardinal McGuigan will reside at Government House, where a dinner will be held in his honor tonight at 7.45.

Find Indian Boy's Body At Alberni

B.C. police at Port Alberni are investigating the death of a 10-year-old Indian boy, Edward Thomson of Bamfield, whose body was found in the water near his brother's fishing boat moored at the city floats Wednesday.

The Nitnat Indian boy had been missing since Saturday when he arrived in Port Alberni with his brother, Webster, on the fishing boat Levi C.

The boy went to a movie shortly after arriving and did not return to the boat. He was reported missing Sunday morning and a search began.

An inquest will be held at Port Alberni on the boy's death.

Town Topics

Suffering a slight attack of influenza while in Vancouver, Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb has returned to his home here and is much improved, Mrs. Anscomb reported today.

Howard Brinton, director of Pendle Hill, well-known Quaker educational and religious centre, near Philadelphia, will speak at the Friends Meeting House, 1829 Fern St., Saturday night, at 8.

Premier John Hart, writing the City Council in answer to requests for an expert to survey water conditions on Saanich Peninsula states: "Please be advised that this matter is being given every consideration."

Because of the increasing amount of City Council business, causing meetings to last up to five hours in length, time of Monday's meeting has been moved to 2, instead of 2.30. A few months ago the time was moved ahead from 3 to 2.30.

Allan Leo Cross was sentenced to three months at hard labor when he appeared before Magistrate Henry C. Hall in city police court today, after being convicted Wednesday on a charge of having a bicycle in his possession, knowing it to have been stolen.

D. Leo Dolan, chief of the Canadian Travel Bureau, Ottawa, will speak on "Canada's Future in World Travel" at a joint luncheon meeting of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce and Kiwanis Club in the Empress Hotel Tuesday, George I. Warren, managing secretary of the commerce chamber, reported today.

Edward A. Curry, a Navy cook, was fined $15 and ordered to pay $35 costs when he pleaded guilty in city police court today to a charge of wilful damage. Const. William Andrews testified Curry tore the tunic of his police uniform when he was assisting members of the Navy Shore Patrol to arrest the accused early Wednesday.

Fong Law who operates a grocery store at 1023 Cook Street, and Percy Templeman, proprietor of a grocery store at 948 Hillside Avenue, both were fined $15 in city police today when they pleaded guilty to charges of selling groceries after closing hours. Magistrate Henry C. Hall warned that in the future more severe sentences would be imposed in charges of this kind.

The aerie has drawn up a committee to study the matter of old age pensions. Members are: J. Waters, chairman M. P. Paine and W. Bridgewood, who is chairman of the old age-pensions committee of the B.C. Provincial Aerie.

Mr. Wright welcomed visitors from Duncan, Port Alberni, Vancouver and Winnipeg.

Board Authorizes Pacific Air Routes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board today authorized Northwest Airlines and Pan-American Airways to establish new air routes to Alaska, the Orient and Australia.

Trans-World Air Lines also received an extension to its international route which, in effect, establishes a second U.S. flag round-the-world service.

In its decision in the so-called Pacific case the board authorized two routes to the Orient. One goes via the Great Circle route across the north Pacific into Tokyo, Seoul, Shanghai and Manila, and the other across the central Pacific via Honolulu, Midway, Tokyo, Shanghai and Hongkong.

The northern route will be operated via the Seattle gateway as well as via the Chicago-Minneapolis-St. Paul gateway, which also includes New York as a co-terminal point.

Trans-Canada Air Lines are planning to operate a direct route from Victoria to Honolulu.

All Aboard Ship Saved In Sinking

NEW YORK (AP) — Air-sea rescue facilities of the Coast Guard said today the merchant ship American Farmer was sunk Wednesday night in a collision with the William J. Riddle, another U.S. vessel. All persons aboard were rescued.

An earlier report by the Radiomarine Corporation of America, a subsidiary of the Radio Corporation of America, said the Farmer was sunk in collision with the American Trader. The Coast Guard said, however, it was the William J. Riddle instead of the American Trader.

The accident occurred about 400 miles west of the British coast.

The Coast Guard said the Riddle was waiting until daylight to determine the extent of its damage, which was at the water line.

Meanwhile, two other vessels were standing by to offer assistance if needed. They were the Edward T. Ripley and the Benjamin Goodhue.

FURNITURE

—ONLY THE COWS ARE CONTENTED—

THE NEW BABY RICKEY is not supposed to B fed, by having that nipple stuck in his head, except on schedule at 10 o'clock, after which he sleeps like a rock. Well—last nite he opened his jowl and at NINE P.M. he started to howl. And what a racket he did make. I sed to the G.F., "Oh-For PETE'S sake, warm up that stuff pastyouryeyezed from a cow, NOBODY can stand THAT kind of a row. "No," she sed, to schedule I'll stick, as she clucked motheringly around baby "Rick." "Well," I sed, "maybe our PET is once again wringing wet. Just HOW'D YOU like to? er-ah-um," then I shut up playing dumb. Then his older sister, nerves also fraying, put down the doll with whom she was playing. "C'mon, Mummy, let's feed the poor guy, he don't ask for much," she sed with a sigh. All was a shambles when the clock hit 10. I flopped on the sofa with—"NEVER AGEN."

KIDS COULD JUMP all over this one, and U would never need to worry . . . it's in a lovely old rose floral V-lure . . . the kind of a Chesterfield Suite that's pretty 'n practical.

Scribner Rejoins Seattle Rainiers

SEATTLE (AP)—Ira Scribner, one of Seattle's promising young prewar pitchers, is rejoining the Pacific Coast League Rainiers, Vice-President Torchy Torrance announced Wednesday. Scribner, a right-hander, came to Seattle from Spokane's Western International League club before the war.

Other developments reported in the "rotating Rainier roster" were: Pitcher Joe Demoran was sold to Columbus of the American Association; pitcher Jim Tobin drew his outright release; infielder Joe Buzas joined the club from the Newark Bears.

Damascus is believed to be the oldest city in the world still inhabited.

Margaret O'Brien In York Showing

James Craig, who teamed with little Margaret O'Brien in "Lost Angel," has a similar assignment with the child star in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Our Vines Have Tender Grapes," co-starring Edward G. Robinson at the York Theatre.

Strange Romance Comes To Atlas

One of the strangest romances ever to come to the screen is the basis of "Tomorrow Is Forever," starring Claudette Colbert, Orson Welles and George Brent, and now being shown at the Atlas Theatre.

Today's the day for the return of your favorite trio — Bing Crosby, Bob Hope and Dorothy Lamour in their screamingly funny hit "Road to Utopia" at the Royal. Doors open at noon today with performances continuous each day for the balance of the week.

OAK BAY AND PLAZA THEATRES

Five dances which were universally popular in the growing America of the 1870's are featured in "Abilene Town," now at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres.

CAPITOL THEATRE

The uses of adversity are amusingly portrayed in Joan Fontaine's current starring vehicle, "From This Day Forward," now at the Capitol Theatre.

DOMINION THEATRE

Republic Studios has made a picture that will satisfy even the most particular of men, in the thrilling murder-mystery on ice, "Murder in the Music Hall," currently at the Dominion Theatre.

Hollywood Column

By HOWARD C. HEYN

HOLLYWOOD (AP — Frank Sinatra is now an avowed Californian. But to insure against becoming homesick for the east, Frankie hopes to bring some of its attractions to Hollywood.

The first big project on his list is what he calls "Hollywood Square Garden Inc."

The garden will accommodate 20,000 (just enough to out-seat Madison Square's 18,500). The cost of this effort will be $3,000,000 to $4,000,000 and won't be started until the war veterans' housing problem is solved.

The arena will be designed for many sports; boxing, basketball and ice skating will be the primary attractions.

Frank's great interest in the boxing field is no secret. He has three fighters of his own now, and by the time the garden is built he may be the Mike Jacobs of the west.

One reason the swoon-voice is so wrapped up in this leather-pushing business: He was a resin polisher himself in his younger days—a flyweight.

Rosalind Russell, anxious to get to work with her own producing unit, finds she still has two pictures to make for Columbia.

Her own company, formed recently with husband Fred Brisson, writer-director Dudley Nichols and agent Frank Vincent, already has four story properties, "and only one of them is for me," she added.

George Givot told me on the "Mr. Fix" set that the exporting house he operates is about to ship vast quantities of a new food pellet to China and other famine areas in the Orient. The pellet contains, in highly concentrated form, 17 vegetables, all vitamins and two citrus juices. Two a day will adequately sustain life, says George.

"We've got a guy trying it out now on a 10-day diet," Givot said. "He's been at it five days, and he looks fine."

BUD WARD WINS

SPOKANE (AP) — Marvin "Bud" Ward, Spokane's national amateur champion, shook off an early scare with some scintillating second-nine golf Wednesday to defeat 19-year-old Bob Lyons of Spokane, 3 and 2 and go into the second round of the Washington State Golf Association tournament.

Hudson's Bay Win Playoff Fastball

On the local fastball playoff scene Wednesday evening, Army and Navy Taxi of the women's B-B division and Hudson's Bay of the B-A fair sex circuit gained victories in playoffs. In another game Dockyard beat Brentwood Aces.

The A. and N. lassies beat out a 17 to 10 verdict over Spencers to make it two-straight and cop the best-of-three series.

Walter Yeamans' Hopefuls were the opposition against Ivan Temple's Bay girls in the A division playoff. H.B.C. pulled out with a 7 to 6 decision, but the Hopefuls forced them to the 10th inning to get it. This was the first game of their best-of-three series.

Bay pitcher Marion Kennedy hit a home run with the bases loaded.

In the opening game of the junior boys' playoff section, Black and White Taxi downed Esquimalt Crusaders 5 to 3. Playoff action in the juvenile department saw Oak Bay Athletics trim Hoyle-Brown, 13 to 9.

LUXTON GAINS FINALS

Luxton Royal advanced to meet Langford in the final playoff for the men's senior B loop in the Colwood and District Fastball League by virtue of their 15 to 9 win Wednesday over Sooke, which gave them the best-of-three series by the two straight win route. The Luxton-Langford best-of-five playoff opens Sunday at 6.30 on the Langford team's diamond.

Young Bloods Beat Spencer's Cricketers

The young bloods of local cricket banded together under the banner of the Colts administered a 128 to 108 defeat to Jim Oakman's Spencers eleven yesterday when they met in a mid-week exhibition match at Beacon Hill.

Bob Colquhoun and Jack Gibbs were the two outstanding batsmen on the Colts' roster, gathering in 93 of the runs between them, Colquhoun getting 60. Colts were allowed 15 men on the field compared to the department store club's regulation eleven.

Fans attending gave Bob Sherret, wicket-keeper for Colts a big hand for a sterling exhibition. Dick Hales, a 14-year-old, bowled nicely for the youngsters. He got two wickets for two runs. C. Pugh took six wickets for 38 runs.

Skipper Oakman of the Spencer team was his team's high bat for the afternoon, with 33 runs.

Prior Hurls Well As Legion Winner

With Bill Prior striking out 18 of the light-hitting Eagles and scattering five hits, Canadian Legion baseballers moved to within three games of the league-leading V.M.D. last night by snowing the Eagles under a 12 to 1 count.

Next game in the city league is not scheduled until Aug. 11, as the Athletics are at home for the next 10 days.

Legionnaires gained a six-run lead in the first on the strength of three hits, three walks, a sacrifice, an error and a wild pitch. They scored two in the sixth and another pair in the top of the eighth to move ahead 10 to 0 before the birdmen notched their only score.

Stan Davies opened up in the last of the eighth with a walk and went to third on a stolen base and a wild pitch, scoring on Ellis' hit to right.

Ex-servicemen scored their final two runs in the ninth on two hits and a like number of infield outs.

Stan Curry was nicked for 11 hits and struck out seven in losing, while his mates committed four errors.

Bill Prior aided his own cause by driving in three runs with two singles and a double in five trips while Rookie Wright batted two for four.

Short score follows:

	R.	H.	E.
Legion	12	11	2
Eagles	1	5	4

Pacific Pearl Wins Derby At Lansdowne

VANCOUVER (CP) — Pacific Pearl, erratic young three-year-old that was taken off the steward's list only Tuesday, galloped home the winner Wednesday in the $3,000 Added British Columbia Derby from a strong field of second-season horses at Lansdowne Park.

The daughter of Vamoose broke fast and at one time had an eight-length lead; but at the top turn, fighting jockey Tommy Bellos, she swung wide. At the top of the turn she again hit her stride, and won going away by a full length.

San Francisco Holds Three-Game Margin

The San Francisco Seals today hopefully ogled the Pacific Coast League pennant, but their second successive blasting of the suddenly punchless Oakland Acorns dampened hopes for a record attendance for their series this week.

By humiliating the Acorns 9 to 2 last night, the Seals grabbed a three-game advantage over the Oaklanders in the flag race.

They played before 15,789 paying customers, compared to a loop record of 23,594 the night before.

Big Cliff Melton chalked up his 16th victory for the Seals against eight losses, although he was removed in the sixth inning with an elbow pain. Dale Matthewson finished, and between the two the Acorns got seven hits, while San Francisco batsmen pounded Floyd Speer for 12.

Third-ranking Los Angeles' Angels shut out the Hollywood Stars 2 to 0 for a lead of two games to none in their series.

The last-place Seattle Rainiers eked out a 7 to 6 victory over the Portland Beavers, their second in a row. Lou Novikoff accounted for two Rainier runs on a homer behind Jo-Jo White's single in the fifth inning.

Sacramento's Solons peppered the San Diego Padres with 17 hits off three pitchers and a 10 to 4 decision to even their series at a game apiece.

NEW YORK HOLDS FIGHT

NEW YORK (AP)—The heavyweight championship fight between Joe Louis and Tami Mauriello, scheduled for Yankee Stadium here Sept. 18, will not be transferred to Detroit, promoter Mike Jacobs said Wednesday.

Whirlaway's Son Sold For $50,000

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Whirlaway, world champion money winner as a turf campaigner, stepped into his own as a leading sire Wednesday when one of his thoroughbred sons sold for $50,000 at the Keeneland summer sale of yearlings.

The colt, a chestnut out of the dame Dark Loveliness, was bought by Jay Paley, Los Angeles fruit grower, in a spirited bidding contest with Frank Frankel, New York. He was consigned by Mereworth Farm.

Hogan Pays $23 Duty To Canadian Customs

WINNIPEG (CP)—Ben Hogan, golf's mighty mite and leading money winner this year with $27,500 in prizes, arrived here Wednesday from Chicago $23 poorer and slightly irked for having to pay that amount in customs duties on five dozen golf balls.

Tired from the long strain of continuous tournament play, Hogan reached the international border at Emerson, Man., en route here for the $10,0000 Canadian Professional Golfers' Association open tournament Aug. 7-10 and the seven dozen balls he had for that tourney and the forthcoming American P.G.A. championship at Portland, Ore., was the subject of an argument with Canadian customs officials.

Papers Unsettled, Industrials Gain

MONTREAL (CP) — Trading trends were mixed in dull business up to the last hour today.

Papers were unsettled, with Fraser dropping 1½ points after being ahead earlier and Bathurst transferring from the winning to the losing side.

Stronger in industrials were United Steel, Massey issues, Algoma, Canadian Car stocks, Acadia A, National Steel Car and Marconi. Behind were Imperial Tobacco and Cockshutt. Canadian Locomotive and Dosco B lost lifts.

Montreal Power, Winnipeg Electric and B.C. Power B advanced, and Quebec Power and Power Corporation lagged in utilities.

Imperial Oil, B.A. and International Petroleum were better in refineries. Hudson Bay was higher and Aluminum in arrears in metals. Nickel lost its previous increase.

WINNIPEG (CP)—There was little trade in rye futures on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today. October and December futures closed 5 cents higher at $2.31½b and $2.18¾b, and May made its initial appearance on the board and closed at $2.21⅜.

The United Kingdom took 375,000 bushels of Canadian wheat.

CHICAGO (AP)—An early upturn in corn futures failed to hold today as persistent commission house selling developed when prices got up to around their former office of price administration ceilings. Reports of continued dry weather stimulated the early buying, much of which represented short-covering.

Oats, firm with corn early, backed down to below the previous closing levels. Shipping sales of cash oats to the east were placed at more than 10,000 bushels.

Leaders Stumble In Quiet Market

NEW YORK (AP)—Selective strength persisted in today's stock market, and the averages advanced slightly for the seventh consecutive session, but many leaders stumbled. Aside from a few active flurries, dealings were relatively quiet from the start.

N.Y. & Harlem, an odd-lot issue, made one of its infrequent appearances on the ticker tape and was up 25 points.

Pond Creek common enjoyed a bulge following a lifted quarterly and split-up proposal. Better performers were Sunshine Mining, Cerro De Pasco, Kennecott, International Harvester, Southern Railway, Chesapeake & Ohio, Great Northern Railway and Montgomery Ward.

Few Canadian issues appeared up to midday. Ford of Canada A lost ⅜ and Imperial Tobacco was off the same amount. Nipissing Mines 1-16.

Yellowknife Stocks Show Activity

TORONTO (CP)—Western oils and industrial stocks netted a margin of gains in today's session.

A group of Yellowknife stocks representing territory immediately northeast of the Giant were fairly strong and some of them were active. Akaitcho was a leader and it touched 1.85 for a gain of 45 cents on news of promising drilling results. Atlas had an advance of 8 cents to 32.

In the base metal list advances of a few cents were showing for Normetal, Sherritt and Golden Manitou.

Gains predominated in the industrial section for the foods, steels, senior oils, liquors and textiles. Point gains were held by Goodyear Tire, Dominion Steel B, Asbestos and Hiram Walker.

Western oils had a ½-point gain for Royalite and minor losses for Calgary and Edmonton, British-Dominion and Mid-Continent.

Claim Buses Damage Fairfield Homes

Temporary removal of heavy buses and substitution of smaller buses on the Fairfield-Richardson and the Fairfield-Gonzales bus routes has been requested in a letter from the City Council transportation committee to the B.C. Electric Railway Company.

W. C. Mainwaring, vice-president of the B.C. Electric, said today his company was giving immediate consideration to the request which was placed before him Wednesday over the signature of Ald. Harold Diggon, chairman of the city's transportation committee.

Request of the committee was based on complaints filed at the City Hall from residents of the Linden Avenue-Southgate Street area. They protested running of the new Canadian Brill-type buses which they said were damaging their homes.

"At the time the changeover to the larger buses was made it was done with a view to accommodating the increasing traffic in the Fairfield area," Mr. Mainwaring said. "We recognized that there was a crowding condition during the rush hours in this territory and our intention was to relieve this congestion and service.

"One thing we have found in this area is that there is a growing tendency among residents who are adjacent to the streetcar route to use buses instead. As an illustration, yesterday morning we had a case where several persons were waiting at Linden Avenue and May Street for transportation to the city and they permitted the streetcar to go by while they waited for the bus. We cannot, of course, control this situation but it is one of the problems which we have to face in trying to maintain the service and at the same time tackle difficulties such as the one presented by this newly-found road condition."

Largest Log Tow Reaches Here

One of the largest log tows to be brought into Victoria reached here this morning in tow of the 232-foot tug J. R. Morgan. The Davis raft contained 2,800,000 feet of high grade spruce and cedar logs.

The logs, brought in for the James Bay Lumber Co. Ltd., were brought down from Cumshewa Inlet and are from the J. R. Morgan Co.'s limits in the Queen Charlotte Islands.

The tug, a powerful craft, is here for the first time in the coast towing business.

CANADA'S KELP

AT THE LAST session of the British Columbia Legislature steps were taken to regulate and control the harvesting of the kelp found off our shores.

Until that time, I must admit, kelp hadn't meant very much to me. I had a hazy idea that kelp, or at least seaweed, possessed magical medicinal properties in the eyes of the Chinese.

And had heard that some of our people in British Columbia had an amazing faith in dulce—as I believe the dried product is called.

So much so that some years ago a man called at one of the public libraries of the province to get a book on the subject, and proudly told the astonished librarian that he attributed the gift of twins to his wife and himself to their dieting themselves on dulce! I wonder if he named them Dulce and Domum?

AS FERTILIZER

ANOTHER USE OF KELP of which I had some slight knowledge was as a fertilizer of gardens. I recall some magnificent sweet peas shown me by a friend some years ago.

These had enormous blossoms and very long stems which he declared were due to the magic properties of kelp He used to go down to the Dallas Road beach and collect it by the bucketful.

However, an interesting little booklet which I received from the Canada Kelp Company Limited of Vancouver the other day further opened my eyes to the almost endless possibilities of this seaweed.

Especially as it told of what was being done to develop this newest industry in British Columbia.

LOCAL ISLANDS

IT APPEARS THAT Deer, Peel and Eagle Islands at the northern end of Vancouver Island, almost opposite Hardy Bay, are prolific sources of supply.

There the harvesting of the kelp is carried out under government supervision. It is cut very much like alfalfa and deposited in rows to begin its processing at the new plant.

I was interested, incidentally, to read that there are no seasons under the waters of the Pacific, hence four crops a year may be harvested.

But the spring crop is slightly higher in iodine content, although all the other life-giving minerals are just as abundant in each of the crops.

Apparently the cold freshness of the Pacific, while making all but the hardiest bathers shudder, is the very thing that fills the kelp with natural minerals easily assimilable by the body.

WONDER SUBSTANCE

FOURTEEN MILES south of Deer Island stretches a bed of edible kelp, whose scientific name is a "mouthful" in itself—macrocystis pyrifera.

This particular variety of sea plant contains the following minerals: iodine, iron, phosphorous, calcium, sulphur, sodium potassium, chlorine and magnesium.

Algin, or sodium alginate, which is recovered from the raw kelp by chemical processes, is one of the wonder substances scientifically developed during the war.

It takes its name from algae, the lowest and simplest form of plant organisms, and which flourish in water.

But the algin procured from that lowly source has almost miraculous properties, it seems. Who would have thought that it could provide a stabilizer—whatever that may mean—in the manufacture of ice cream, for instance?

Because it "jells" easily, it is also used as a component of sulfanilamide ointment, as well as in the making of dental impression materials.

To say nothing of its contribution as a creaming agent to the manufacture of latex, finishing leather, waterproofing concrete, fireproofing wood and camouflaging materials, in cansealing compounds and water base paints.

COSMETICS AND COWS

IN THE B.C. Marine Products laboratories in Vancouver it gets turned into laxatives, shampoos and toiletries.

One Pacific coast firm has a line of shampoos, soaps and soap pastes and beauty lotions—all made with kelp—which they advertise as giving good results in cold, warm, soft, hard and salt water.

If the cold, clammy stuff we know as seaweed can be put to such uses, it isn't surprising to learn that its mineral content makes algin marvellous for animal foods.

That's why kelp meal is fed to chickens, mink and all furbearing animals to keep them healthy, and is being increasingly recognized as excellent for cattle.

Yes, this newest scientific development of one of British Columbia's most prolific natural resources—its kelp beds—augurs well as an up-and-coming western industry.

Three Pickets Fined On Assault Charge

VANCOUVER (CP) — Three former Vancouver Daily Province printers, members of the International Typographical Union (A.F.L.) were fined $20 each or one month in jail by Magistrate H. S. Wood Wednesday for a joint assault on Walter B. Mackie, the paper's classified advertising supervisor, in front of the Province building July 12.

The printers, members of a picket line, were John Pratt, Clarence Tyrrell and W. Cocker. They pleaded not guilty.

A charge against a fourth man, Ernest Summers, was dismissed.

Mackie told the court he was "dragged out" of the Hastings Street entrance of the building after picking up two hats, marked "rat hats," from the sidewalk in company with Leslie J. Cummings, classified advertising manager.

Mackie said Tyrrell grabbed his arm, then he was "pushed down the street" and struck on the face and head by a group of picketers which included Pratt and Cocker, Mackie testified.

His evidence was corroborated by Cummings, who said the hats were being removed because they were embarrassing people entering the building on business.

V. L. Dryer, defence counsel, asserted I.T.U. men had "behaved pretty well" compared with other strikers, and after July 15 had "observed to the letter" an injunction restraining them from picketing.
